New Leader, At 25, Turning Into Magazine

Mr. Levitas, ^{wh-} picked up a sheaf of letters from his desk.

"See this letter," he said, pointing to the signature of a prominent government official.

"In recent years we've been attacking this gentleman's policies regularly," he continued. "Yet he was good enough to write that as much as he disagreed with us, he had no fault. In what other country could that happen?"

Led Early Fight on Hiss.

But probably the greatest service the New Leader has performed in the last quarter century was its unremitting campaign of exposure of Communist infiltration in labor unions and even the government.

It was the New Leader which kept up a running battle against Alger Hiss years before the general public had heard of the former State Department official, recently convicted of perjury.

Consulted by FBI

As a result, the New Leader's files are consulted regularly by the FBI, Office of Naval Intelligence and other security agencies.

And, as a result, the Communist press has called the New Leader everything from a "Fascist" paper to a "tool of Wall St."

"Trouble is," Mr. Levitas said, "Wall St. hasn't put up a red cent."

The New Leader, the liberal weekly newspaper which vigorously fought Communism at times when Red baiting was almost a nasty word, will celebrate its 25th anniversary next week by turning into a magazine.

The incredible thing about the event is that 64 writers, many of whom would rather drop dead than agree with each other, have joined in wishing the weekly's change or format well.

Where Lyons and Davis Agree.

"Whenever we disagree with articles in the New Leader—and some of us diverge on many issues—we are free to say so in its own columns," they explain.

Thus Eugene Lyons, whose former liberal views have gone conservative, can say with Eimer Davis, whose liberalism rankles conservatives, that "we believe the time is propitious to put the New Leader on the map as America's leading magazine."

Other Backers of Venture.

Joining with them are such figures as William Henry Chamberlain, columnist for the Wall Street Journal; Prof. John Dewey, Max Eastman, labor leader; A. Philip Randolph, Upton Sinclair, Sen. Crawford, Roger Baldwin, James Burnham, A. A. Berle Jr. and John Dos Passos.

Also, Victor Gollancz, Sidney Hook, Ben. Hubert H. Humphrey (D. Minn.), Arthur Koestler, Ralph de Solodano, Hark Levinson, Carol Sandlundberg, Edgar Ansel Mowser, Reinhold Niebuhr, Dorothy Thompson, Ramon Sender, Louis Stark, Allan Weiss, John H. Wines, Holmes, Lillian Smith and George S. Shuster.

Financing Always a Problem.

Behind the paper these many years is soft-spoken S. M. Levitas. As executive editor, Mr. Levitas has weathered every vicissitude known in publishing.

"Our major problem has always been financing," Mr. Levitas said. "We are at the Rand School, and we are always short of money."

Bridges Served As Red Leader, Witness Swears

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13 (CTPS)—A government witness rose in a packed courtroom today and dramatically pointed out Harry Bridges as having been a member of the Communist national committee, a section of the party's top echelon in this country.

The witness placed Bridges in a secret party conclave in 1936 in New York and named others of the high Communist hierarchy present, including Earl Browder and J. V. Peters, the mysterious Russian agent who has been mentioned in the Alger Hiss and Gerhart Eisler cases.

The man who threw this legal bombshell into the Bridges perjury trial—in probably the biggest moment of the prosecution's case thus far—was Manning R. Johnson, Negro, a former Communist. Johnson has testified previously for the government at nearly 20 immigration and Communist alien proceedings, including that for Eisler, once the country's No. 1 Communist, who has fled to Germany.

Was Party Executive

Bridges, boss of the Longshoremen's union (CIO), and two union associates, Henry Schmidt and James Robertson, are on trial before federal Judge George B. Harris and a jury for allegedly lying in denying Bridges was a Communist at his naturalization in 1945.

Johnson, called to the stand by prosecutor F. Joseph Donohue, said he was a Communist from 1931 to 1940 and a member of the party national committee in 1936.

"At the 1936 party national convention," he testified, "we were given a list of persons to be elected to the national committee. The list was distributed to myself and other delegates by J. Peters and Abe Benson."

Lists Bridges as Leader

"Who were some of those committee members?" Donohue asked.

The list he gave included Browder (then the country's top Red), Jack Stachel (one of the Communists recently convicted in New York), Peters, William Weinstein, William Weiner, alias Blake, Sam Don, James W. Ford, Mort White, Alex Bittleman, Abe Brown, alias Aiti, Harry Heywood, Alex Durba, Morris Childs, Clarence Hathaway, Anna Damon, William Scheiderman, Paul Crouch, George Hewitt, alias Tim Holmes, the witness himself, and two other men named only as Trachtenburg and Puro.

"And," said Johnson slowly, "there was Harry Bridges, who was going under the name of Rossi."

"Do you see that Bridges in the courtroom?" Donohue asked.

Johnson stood up and pointed a long arm toward Bridges.

"There he sits," the witness spoke. "There he is."

Bridges, hawk-nosed, high-domed, was visibly affected. He stirred nervously and glared at Johnson.

Mr. BROWDER: I have not.

Senator

HICKENLOOPER: During the time that you were head of the Communist Party, or a prominent official in the Communist Party in the United States, did you know whether or not ALGER HISS was a member of the Communist Party, or considered to be a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. BROWDER: I would say that I never even heard the name "HISS" in such a way as to fasten it in my memory, until I was visited by agents of the FBI and asked to identify his photograph as someone that I knew; and later on when HISS was in the public eye, I learned that

HICKENLOOPER: Yes, and when you saw that photograph, did you recognize the photograph as one whom you had known?

Mr. BROWDER: I had never seen him before, and I tell you now that I had never heard his name before, in the way in which it would impress itself on my memory.

Mr. BROWDER: I did not.

Senator

HICKENLOOPER: Did you at any time, while you were an official of the Communist Party, know whether or not WHITTAKER CHAMBERS was a member of the Communist Party, or considered a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. BROWDER: I knew that WHITTAKER CHAMBERS had been a member of the Communist Party in the early 1920's. He disappeared, and I assumed that he was out of the Party, and I still so assume.

20 Harvard Professors Tied to Reds

(This is the second of a series on Harvard and its connection with left wingers.)

By EUGENE GRIFFIN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 8 (CTPS)—The Harvard faculty includes about 20 professors who repeatedly have supported Communist-front organizations, officially described as such by the U. S. Department of Justice.

Some Harvard professors have become such notorious yellow travelers that today their support of a questionable organization helps stamp it as Communist-influenced.

78 Linked to Comrades

The National Council for American Education in New York a year ago found that 78 Harvard faculty members had been associated with 124 Communist fronts. This was an extremely broad listing, however, and included men with only a single Red-front connection, and others who have not been active since the Stalin-Hitler pact.

There is a small core of Harvard professors who have given their names, time and energy to 30, 40 and more organizations and movements controlled by Communists.

The most persistent repeaters, which could include professors Harlow Shapley, astronomy; F. O. Matthiessen, history and literature, and Kirtley Mather, geology, vigorously deny that they are yellow travelers.

Loyal alumni find it difficult to put a finger on a connection between the faculty Communist fronters and the number of Harvard-educated Communist agents exposed in Washington.

Alger Hiss, like many accused Communist traitors with Harvard backgrounds, did not go to Harvard college and probably never met any of the Harvard professors whose names adorn Red front movements. Hiss and others like him are products of the Harvard law school.

The law school professors are not found mixed up in Communist fronts which attract big names from the Harvard college faculty. A few law school members will sometimes be on the Communist side in denouncing the House committee investigating un-American activities, or attacking court trials of Communists. In such cases, the professors take the position that they

Chafee Defended Hiss

Prof. Zechariah Chafee, one of the law faculty vociferous critics of the committee on un-American activities. Before Alger Hiss was convicted as a perjurer-traitor, Chafee wrote a long letter to the Washington Post defending Hiss.

Last summer Chafee subbed for David E. Lillenthal as Phi Beta Kappa orator at Harvard, and seized the opportunity to defend Communists on several fronts. He ridiculed U. S. Senate bills for controlling Communist activities, and attacked the New York trial of 11 Communist party leaders.

Chafee had a simple suggestion for handling Communists. "My suggestion," he said, "is that for a while we look at American Communists as an American problem, and forget all about the world Communist movement. Leave that to Dean Acheson and the military people."

Chafee has been teaching at Harvard since 1916 and is an old friend and former colleague of Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter, who left Harvard in 1938. Together they taught many of the younger professors now at Harvard law school.

Half of the 20 full professors presently teaching at Harvard law school were graduated from the school in the years when Frankfurter was a professor. Several of them were associates of Alger Hiss, who was graduated from the three-year course in 1929.

Among the present professors who were in Harvard with him are Dean Erwin N. Griswold, class of 1928; Livingston Hall, vice dean, 1927; Richard H. ~~_____~~, 1929; Henry M. Hart, 1930; Benjamin Kaplan, 1928, and Errol Brown, Paul ~~_____~~ and Milton Katz, all of the class of 1931.

For record purposes, an individual identifying himself as General Maynard Kimberland called at my office advising that he had important information which he had discussed with Congressman Nixon of California to the effect that there was a powerful group of bad actors who might bear further looking into. He named Mr. Knight Guild Aulsbrook, an Attorney at 237 Southern Building, Washington, D. C., who he stated was a roommate and classmate of Alger Hiss at Harvard law school. ANSWER 5: I knew about the existence of ALGER HISS, but I never met him. I met NOEL FIELD in 1945 after my arrival in Paris. He retained me as Public and Press Relations Director for the Unitarian Service Committee. During my work from May 1945 to January 1946, FIELD made frequent trips to Switzerland, USA, Berlin, Warsaw, Prague and Budapest. He was European Director of the organization and seemed to work in close contact with the Paris representations of all the satellite countries. Especially conspicuous were his contacts with "Red Cross Missions" forthcoming from the same countries which were emanations of the MVD. In accordance with those Red Cross Missions, FIELD tried to prevail upon all inmates of D.P. and refugee camps to return to the country of their origin. He also maintained a good contact with the representatives of the Communist Parties of the satellite states. All other names mentioned under this heading are known to me but I do not recollect to have met personally any of the persons in question.

BLACKLIST

4 Alvin Karpis 28. W. 9. NYC 14

ON THE RIGHT -----by William F. Buckley, Jr.

For Release Saturday or Sunday, April 2 or 3, 1966, or thereafter.

A LITTLE PARTY FOR THE CAUSE

The word went around that there would be a little party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blueblood, in New York City, to hear the brand new Congressman Mr. Ted Kupferman, successor in every sense of the word to John Lindsay, give the reasons why the House Committee on Un-American Activities should be abolished. The guests, about 70 of them, filed into the handsome house, furnished with antiques presented by Lafayette to Mr. Blueblood's great great great, who was ambassador to France a century and a half ago. The guests went up to a large dining room where a butler poured drinks. On the way they filed past a pad of yellow paper cutely labelled "Black List." And they dutifully wrote down their names. One or two of them were obvious leg-pulls, e.g., Mr. Derring-Do, guest #50, who identified himself as "J. Edgar Hoover, address: 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C." The name "Alger Hiss" also appeared, as guest #4.

It was not written down by a yukster, but by Alger Hiss.

The proceedings were extensive. Mrs. Charn, born in Brooklyn and recently married to the scion of a considerable fortune, opened the meeting by introducing other distinguished members of the National Committee to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities. She then introduced Mr. Frank Donner as a "distinguished constitutional lawyer." She did not, in her biographical preview, mention that two distinguished witnesses before the House Committee on Un-American Activities identified Mr. Donner under oath as a member of the Communist Party, or mention that the talkative Mr. Donner suddenly drew breath on the occasion when the House Committee on Un-American Activities asked him if he was a member of the Communist Party--all he could then manage was to mumble something about the 5th Amendment. Mr. Donner, who has written a book about the House Committee, spoke many amused and amusing things about the horrors of the Committee, though none at all about the horrors of un-American activities, suggesting that it is the former, rather than the latter, that he is primarily concerned to abolish.

The following speaker was Miss Breastworks, a sweetie-pie from Sweden who appears, every bit of her, on all the current cheesecakerie. She spoke very prettily about her devotion to civil liberties. The next speaker was Mr. John Henry Faulk, who won a prodigious judgment on the grounds that he had been falsely accused of pro-Communist activity, thus aborting a great career on radio and television, which career he has not however gloriously resumed. Mr. Faulk, a most engaging man, told anecdotes of one kind or another of which the House Committee on Un-American Activities was the victim. And, finally, the major event, the neophyte Congressman Mr. Theodore Kupferman, who talked extensively about the Committee's unconcern for judicial safeguards, and not at all about the Committee's adoption, several years ago, of a list of judicial safeguards proposed by a special committee of a Bar Association.

- MORE -

Alger Hiss did not give a speech. Nor did guest #23, Mr. Russ Nixon, who, like Alger Hiss, was identified before the House Committee under oath as a Communist (he took the 5th Amendment); but who, unlike Alger Hiss, has not spent time in jail for perjury--he is now under indictment for refusing to answer questions before the House. Strange that Mr. Hiss was not allowed to speak. One would think he could have given an impassioned speech against the House Committee on Un-American Activities, just as Al Capone could have given a truly impassioned speech on the necessity to abolish the FBI. After all, it is passion that counts, in the drive to abolish the Committee. Hardly reason.

No questions were permitted, let alone encouraged, and a collection was taken to further the work of abolishing the Committee. Two guests, Mrs. Charn happily announced, had donated $2,000. We don't know how much money was finally raised. Perhaps Mr. Hiss might be persuaded to resume his former affiliation and turn over to the National Committee to Abolish the House Committee the proceeds from the very next secret he might then steal from the Government? Interesting question: would that be tax exempt? Here might be a suitable cause for the next gathering at Mrs. Blueblood's.

END.

Mr. William Rusher
Publisher of The National Review

New York, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Rusher:

On Sunday afternoon, at 5:30, I was taken by my friend Elsie Wiener to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. M. Earlow at 11 Gramercy Park for the avowed purpose of hearing Mr. Theodore Kaufman, Congressman from the Silk Stocking District, give a talk on why the House on Un-American Activities' Committee should be abolished. Mr. Earlow was not there. Mrs. Earlow, who the Social Register lists as (Bullitt, A. Ernesta Drinker) was in attendance, looking quite patrician and speaking in a combined Boston-Philadelphia-Harvard accent. It is my understanding that Mrs. Earlow's first husband was William Bullitt, former Ambassador to France. The home was quite spacious and had numerous antiques which an original Earlow had received from Lafayette, when the Earlow progenitor was Ambassador to France early in the 19th Century. On the way in the door there were several yellow pads on a table for the guests to sign with their addresses. It is interesting to note that the list was labeled by the proponents of this party as "BLACK LIST". I had no sooner entered the door when I spotted Alger Hiss moving from the crowded foyer up to the second floor. Winding my way up the long staircase, I arrived on the second floor. A negro butler was pouring drinks in a very large dining room. The furniture had been removed from the living room and seats were installed to accommodate about seventy people. Most of the people in attendance looked as though they had crawled from underneath rocks and were not the kind of people one might expect to find in Mrs. Earlow's drawing room. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. John (Sylvia) Crane, who was quite good looking and indeed quite charming. She introduced a member of her National Committee, Miss Creta Thyssen of the movies, who rose quickly to her feet and gave a one sentence subject covering her interest in Civil Liberties and then sat down.

Speech (SPEECH)

Mrs. Crane then introduced Mr. Frank J. Donner as an eminent constitutional lawyer. Mr. Donner exuded charm and kept the audience amused with his oration on the abrogation of the Committee.

Lincoln (LINCOLN)

The next speaker introduced was Mr. John Henry Faulk, who told some very amusing stories about George Herman Rookwell and the Klan, all done in an amusing, charming Southern accent. Then Mrs. Crane introduced the Congressman from the Silk Reeling District, Mr. Theodore Hapferman, who gave a straight talk, the gist of which was that the KKK should be abolished because it did not provide those people called before it with certain judicial safeguards. Following Mr. Hapferman's talk, Mrs. Crane announced that she had two checks for $2,000 and that checks would be passed out for those who'd wished to make contributions. The meeting was then adjourned. In the process of leaving, I saw two men sitting down, writing out checks. On the way out the door I noticed that the yellow pages with the list of names was unattended, so I took the two lists of names-Black List and Black List File #2.

I am enclosing these lists for you as well as a xerox copy. I would like to have the original returned when it no longer serves your purpose because I have a feeling that some day Alger Hiss' autograph may be valuable to my grandchildren the same way as Major Andre's autograph may be valuable today.

I have limited myself somewhat to bare-bone details. I could elaborate at length and add a lot more color, if you so desire.

Sincerely yours,

P.S. I understand that Mrs. Barlow has lent her home to Mrs. Crane on several past occasions for events of a similar nature.

In the course of the investigation of ALGER HISS, LOVESTONE was interviewed on March 16, 1949, and stated that he originally met ALGER HISS in October, 1947, at the Harvard Club, New York City. The occasion was a meeting of the Stimson Committee for the Marshall Plan headed by HENRY S. STIMSON, former Secretary of War. This was a civilian organization whose purpose was to keep Congress aware of the necessity of passing the Marshall Plan. This organization consisted of about 1500 of the leading citizens of the country. This Committee was disbanded after the Marshall Plan was adopted by Congress.

12/11/50

According to LOVESTONE, this committee had its birth out of an article written by STIMSON in "Foreign Affairs" magazine in which he discussed the European problem. At the meeting LOVESTONE attended he was the American Federation of Labor Representative and the other representatives included former Federal Judge ROBERT PATTERSON, DEAN ACHESON, and ALGER HISS. LOVESTONE related that considerable information in recent years had come to him concerning HISS' activities and he was interested in meeting him. LOVESTONE remarked that HISS, he understood, was considered pro-Russian and could not be trusted in handling the United States' problems. He added that it was common talk that HISS was a Communist and a top man for Russia.

LOVESTONE when requested to elaborate on his remarks in this connection, identified BENJAMIN MANDEL, Investigator for the HCUA and IRVING BROWN, AFL Representative on European Affairs as both characterizing HISS as a Communist and pro-Russian.

LOVESTONE also pointed out that BOB WATT, AFL Representative in the IWO, who attended the San Francisco Conference, had characterized ALGER HISS as being "no good" and had wired back to headquarters to determine what information they had on HISS.

LOVESTONE also volunteered the information that he had heard that the British also were aware of ALGER HISS' pro-Soviet leanings and had kept a close check on him at the San Francisco Conference.

12/11/50

NY 100-25904

During this interview, LOVESTONE related how ALGER HISS had maneuvered a person by the name of HAROLD STEIN into the position of Manager of the New York Office for the Marshall Plan Committee. He also stated that he and HISS were appointed as a committee at the suggestion of DEAN ACHESON to draw up a bill of principles, however, he was unable to serve on this committee but did make available to either HISS or STEIN, the AFL documents concerning the Marshall Plan to assist in drawing up the Bill of Principles.

LOVESTONE described the conversation he had with HISS during a bus ride downtown after one of the meetings of the Committee for the Marshall Plan. He stated that he had remarked to HISS in a very critical manner concerning the countries behind the Iron Curtain and during this time HISS remained very silent and made no comment.

LOVESTONE related that he was again in contact with HISS in the spring of 1948, when he contacted HISS at the Carnegie Endowment Office for a luncheon appointment. At this time he took HISS to the ILGWU offices and showed him around after having lunched at the Bryant Hotel, 54th Street and Broadway. During this luncheon he requested HISS to make available Carnegie Endowment funds to bring union leaders from Germany to the United States and allow them to observe policies and operations of unions in the United States. This was rejected by HISS saying that the Endowment was interested only in academic work and affiliations with universities rather than labor unions.

LOVESTONE also made a request of HISS, to have the Carnegie Endowment, if possible, bring over refugees from the Baltic countries behind the Iron Curtain and allow them to see first-hand operations of labor unions in the United States. This was also turned down by HISS.

LOVESTONE, in his contact with HISS, observed reluctance on HISS' part to criticize the Soviet Union and observed also that HISS at the very minimum was sympathetic with the Communist movement. LOVESTONE stated that in his opinion HISS would not be regarded within the term spy but rather that he was a person who was affiliated with policy level agencies which would be more beneficial to the Communist cause than to have an individual who steals documents and other things generally believed to be the work and duties of spies.

12/11/50

LOVESTONE believed that HISS actively ceased Communist Party work at the time of the HITLER-STALIN Pact however he could not substantiate this belief. LOVESTONE remarked that as far as he was concerned, HISS was with ROOSEVELT at Yalta in body only and his heart was at least half with STALIN.

LOVESTONE suggested to interviewing agents that they contact the British Security Officers who were in charge at the San Francisco Conference for information concerning ALGER HISS.

LOVESTONE did mention that he had been approached by ALGER HISS to obtain derogatory information from LOVESTONE concerning WHITTAKER CHAMBERS. LOVESTONE had no information of his personal knowledge indicating that HISS was a Communist Party member.

Out of these organizations of the intellectuals as such, there grew also groups of wider appeal which made an even more distinct impression upon American thought. Outstanding among them was the League Against War and Fascism. The original executive of that body, whom I knew well, was Dr. J. B. Matthews, who subsequently broke with the Communists. He was succeeded by Dr. Harry F. Ward, at the time the Communists first sought to infiltrate the Roosevelt camp, and the League's name was changed to the American League for Peace and Democracy. In this guise, the Politburo felt, the organization would have more influence in Washington political circles. Finally, during the Hitler-Stalin alliance, when it became necessary for the League to alter its entire approach, it became the American Peace Mobilization. Frederick

Vanderbilt Field was drawn temporarily out of the Institute of Pacific Relations to become its head.

I attended several of the Politburo meetings which set up the American Peace Mobilization and put Mr. Field in charge. He was selected primarily because of his success in cultivating officials of the State Department. He could reel off a number of distinguished names who were bosom friends of his, among them his close collaborator Alger Hiss, who was subsequently to advise the government at Yalta, Potsdam and San Francisco.

RUSHMORE said that he had just talked to a friend of his who is still connected with the State Department and said that HISS is undoubtedly very powerful. RUSHMORE said that some time ago an individual "of the same sort as our girl friend" had told him that HISS was a Communist. RUSHMORE said that he had forgotten to ask "their girl friend" about this and wanted BETTY to find out. BETTY said she would ask her the next time she talks to her. RUSHMORE indicated he was getting out a story on the State Department.

A check of the indices of the New York Office indicates that New York File 101-141 is entitled "ALGER HISS, Department of State, Washington, D. C.; Hatch Act - Internal Security." Washington is office of origin in this case and the Bureau file number is 101-2668.

BETTY asked KEFLEY about ALGER HISS, but he said that he did not know him.

DETAILS:

ALLEGATIONS
JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS

On December 3, 1948, WHITTAKER CHAMBERS submitted a signed statement in which he said that one of the photographers who copied documents which ALGER HISS, and others employed by the United States Government, had furnished to him, was an individual whom he knew only as "FELIX". CHAMBERS advised that "FELIX" was introduced to him by Colonel BORIS BYKOV, early in 1937, as a Paid Functionary of the Communist Party.

On December 13, 1948, CHAMBERS advised the physical description of "FELIX" was as follows:

Name	"FELIX"
Age (in 1937)	Late twenties or early thirties
Weight	165 to 170 lbs.
Height	5' 7 1/2"
Peculiarities	Round, baby face (CHAMBERS stated he called "FELIX" by the nickname "BABY FACE"); clean shaven; no glasses; dress, neat; had black overcoat and gray hat; voice - conversed in English, no accent; believed he was native born of Baltic origin.

CHAMBERS advised that to the best of his recollection, "FELIX" had no hobbies. He recalls that "FELIX" was employed by an electrical firm, the nature of which was not clear to him. However, he was quite certain that it was not a retail firm, and "FELIX" had obtained the job in this firm himself. CHAMBERS had never seen the electrical firm, but he recalled that "FELIX" indicated to him that it was located on Howard Street below Fayette Street in Baltimore.

It was CHAMBERS' recollection that "FELIX" had a Leica camera. CHAMBERS believed he had never seen the camera, although he stated it was possible that he, CHAMBERS, may have given the camera to "FELIX". He said that "FELIX" had a wife whom CHAMBERS had never met, and as far as he knew, they had no children.

Al. 100-11620

During the period of CHAMBERS' acquaintanceship with "FELIX", he owned an automobile which CHAMBERS believed to be either a Plymouth, a Ford, or a Chevrolet. He was of the opinion that the car was probably a black sedan and probably bore Maryland plates.

STEPS TAKEN TO IDENTIFY "FELIX"

On December 19, 1948 WHITTAKER CHAMBERS toured the neighborhood of Konig Street, Baltimore, Maryland, in which area he believed the unidentified photographer, "FELIX", resided. In recalling the circumstances of his visit to the area with "FELIX", CHAMBERS stated that in all probability he met "FELIX" by pre-arrangement on some street or in some park in Baltimore, Maryland. According to CHAMBERS' recollection, "FELIX" forgot to bring with him some necessary material, as a result of which "FELIX" and CHAMBERS drove to the Konig Street area so that "FELIX" could obtain the forgotten material from his home. CHAMBERS recalls that the car in which they were riding parked; "FELIX" then left the car and entered his home, although the exact location of the home could not be observed by CHAMBERS. CHAMBERS stated that upon "FELIX's" return to the car, they drove in an easterly direction, and as they left the area, he recalled turning around and observing back porches at the rear of the row of homes, one of which was entered by "FELIX". His recollection was that the name Konig Street remained in his mind over the years because it is in the general area and is the only street name that he could recall, and he must have observed the street sign on this visit to the area where the residence of "FELIX" was located.

Based on this information, a physical survey of the area in the vicinity of Konig Street was made with WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, and as a result of this survey, CHAMBERS selected three groups of houses as possibilities which would include the residence of "FELIX". CHAMBERS' first preference was a group of houses located in the 2100 block of Callow Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland. The house numbers in this block run from 2101 to approximately 2115, and CHAMBERS

excluded 2101 Callow Avenue from consideration. CHAMBERS placed this group as his first preference, inasmuch as this was the only group in the area in which back porches could be observed.

A survey of Baltimore City Directories and Reverse Telephone Directories for the years 1935 through 1938 was made to ascertain the names of residents of the 2100 block of Callow Avenue during the pertinent period 1937 and 1938, when "FELIX" was alleged to have resided in the neighborhood. Among the residents of the 2100 block of Callow Avenue during the pertinent period was located the name of FELIX AUGUST INSLERMAN as residing at 2113 Callow Avenue. A check of the Reverse Telephone Directories indicated that INSLERMAN was listed as residing at 2113 Callow Avenue, Baltimore, in the Directory issued in April 1937 through the Directory issued in April 1938. Reverse Directories appearing prior or subsequent to the above dates contained no listings for INSLERMAN.

On December 22, 1948, WHITTAKER CHAMBERS was shown the photograph of FELIX AUGUST INSLERMAN, as above described. At this time CHAMBERS made an instantaneous, definite, and unequivocal identification of INSLERMAN as the individual known to him in 1937 - 1938 in Baltimore, Maryland as "FELIX".

INTERVIEW
FELIX AUGUST INSLERMAN

On December 23, 1948 Special Agents FRANCIS D. O'BRIEN and JOHN J. O'TOOLE, JR. talked with FELIX AUGUST INSLERMAN, at the General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York, where he was employed, at which time INSLERMAN agreed to accompany the Agents to the resident agency office of this Bureau in Schenectady, New York. The interview began at approximately 11:00 A.M. on instant date. At the outset of the interview INSLERMAN was questioned concerning his knowledge of any espionage activities which had been engaged in by any individuals in or outside of the United States Government. INSLERMAN denied any knowledge of espionage activities. A photograph of WHITTAKER CHAMBERS

Al. 100-11620

was exhibited to him and he immediately denied knowing such a person. INSLERMAN was questioned concerning the taking of any photographs of documents for CHAMBERS, and INSLERMAN denied taking any such photographs. INSLERMAN was thoroughly questioned concerning his own background and employment, as well as his education and places he had resided and traveled. INSLERMAN furnished the following signed statement:

"Schenectady, New York
December 23, 1948

" I FELIX AUGUST INSLERMAN make the following voluntary statement to JOHN J. O'TOOLE and FRANCIS D. O'BRIEN whom I know to be Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. I know that any statement I make may be used against me in a court of law. I have been advised that I have a right to counsel.

" I was born on July 11, 1910 in New York City. I attended New Brunswick High School, New Brunswick, New Jersey. From 1928 to 1932 I attended Cooper Union Institute of Technology. I also attended John Hopkins University from Oct., 1936 to June, 1939, at which time I received the degree of Bachelor of Science.

" As far as I can recall I first went to Baltimore, Maryland in 1936 during the time that I was in Baltimore I was employed by the BOHN REFRIGERATOR CO. as a draftsman. The Drukko Company also as a draftsman, this firm made photographic enlargers. In May of 1938 I went to work for the GLENN L. MARTIN COMPANY, manufacturers of aircraft. I was employed there in the engineering department until 1942. I then went to work for the REPUBLIC AVIATION CORPN., Farmingdale, L.I. My work at the REPUBLIC AVIATION CORPN. was in the Engineering Department until late 1946. In September of 1946 I went to work for the GENERAL ELECTRIC CO., Schenectady, N.Y. where I am presently employed as an engineer. I have been and am now working on restricted work at GENERAL ELECTRIC.

" During the time that I lived in Baltimore Md. I believe I lived on Fir St. which is directly behind the GLENN R. MARTIN PLANT. I also lived on Callow Ave. in Baltimore Md. the exact number I do not recall but believe I

Al. 100-11620

"resided there in 1937 until sometime in 1938. I cannot recall the name of another street that I resided on outside of Baltimore.

" I am an amateur photographer and while residing on Callow Ave. I used the bathroom in the premises as a dark room to develop the film I had taken pictures with in my photography hobby.

" I have been shown a picture of an individual by the name of JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS. I categorically deny that I was ever acquainted with CHAMBERS. I also deny that I knew CHAMBERS by the name of 'CARL' or 'KARL' or that I was ever acquainted with CHAMBERS when he used the name of GEORGE CROSLY or any other name. I deny that I ever developed any film for CHAMBERS. I deny that CHAMBERS was ever in my home in Baltimore while I was residing on Callow Ave. or any other address in Baltimore. I deny that I ever went to Washington, D. C. to see CHAMBERS. I deny ever knowing an individual by the name of Colonel BYKOV.

" I deny that I was ever a member of the Communist Party or that any person ever attempted to recruit me to join the Communist Party. On several occasions while I attended Cooper Union Institute of Technology I stopped in Union Square New York to listen to individuals speak, but never participated in any discussions with persons at these meetings.

Al. 100-11620

" I have read this statement, consisting of one and three quarter hand-written pages and it is true to the best of my knowledge. I have initialed page one and this page.

"Witnessed:

In the cellar of the residence were neatly piled in a box a number of New York City newspapers, all containing publicity given to the "HISS-CHAMBERS" case for approximately the preceding three weeks. It was noted that at the time INSLERMAN was questioned and shown photographs of CHAMBERS, HISS, WADLEIGH, and RENO, he had no hesitancy about the use of the individuals' names, and gave as a reason for this fact that he, INSLERMAN, had followed the case thoroughly in the newspapers. He explained that he had followed the entire case very carefully through the papers, and stated that it was only natural that anyone would have an extreme interest in that particular case.

INSLERMAN was asked if he would accompany the Agents to New York City to confront WHITTAKER CHAMBERS. He stated he would go willingly to New York

Al. 100-11620

City with the Agents to confront CHAMBERS, but would desire to do so the following day.

INSLERMAN then accompanied Agent FRANCIS D. O'BRIEN and the writer to Schenectady, New York, approximately forty miles from INSLERMAN's residence. During the course of this travel, INSLERMAN was thoroughly questioned as to his residence at Baltimore, Maryland. INSLERMAN claimed that he did reside on Callow Avenue as set forth in the signed statement, and that while residing there he used the bathroom of his house as a photographic dark room. However, he continued to deny that CHAMBERS had ever visited his home in Baltimore, or that he ever knew anyone by the name of CHAMBERS.

At that time, according to LOTUS, INSLERMAN volunteered the information that he had been subpoenaed by the Federal Grand Jury for the Southern District of New York in connection with the inquiry that body was making into the CHAMBERS matter. LOTUS further stated INSLERMAN volunteered the information he did not know CHAMBERS nor did he know ALGER HISS.

LEICA CAMERA

As a result of interviews with WHITTAKER CHAMBERS regarding the photographer "FELIX", it was CHAMBERS' recollection that "FELIX" had a Leica camera. CHAMBERS was of the opinion that he had never seen the camera, although he stated that it was possible that he, CHAMBERS, may have given the camera to "FELIX".

Al. 100-11620

"and reason to believe that such information was to be used to the benefit of a foreign power and to the injury of the United States, and have conspired to defraud the United States of the honest, impartial and loyal services of certain of its employees by procuring them to remove and make available to unauthorized persons official documents of the United States Government.

" 3. In my official capacity, as a result of official investigations conducted by me and official reports and other official material read and reviewed by me, I am satisfied and believe that the above mentioned crimes arose out of the following: Beginning about 1936 and continuing to about April, 1938, one Jay David Whittaker Chambers procured certain employees of the Government of the United States to remove official documents and information from the possession of various departments of the Government and to make them available to himself and other unauthorized persons for ultimate delivery to a foreign power; as delivered to Chambers this material consisted of original documents or written or typewritten copies or summaries thereof; it was Chambers' practice and that of the other unauthorized persons to deliver such material to certain photographers, including said Felix A. Inslerman, for photographic reproduction on microfilm,

Al. 100-11620

"and upon completion of such photographing to return the official documents to the said Government employees for restoration in the Government's files; certain of this microfilm, which is of 35 millimeter size, has been produced by Chambers; the equipment used for the purpose of such photographic reproduction included at least one Leica camera; there is some indication that these practices were continued for an undetermined period subsequent to April, 1938.

Al. 100-11620

*cameras referred to above, including an Ernemann-Bob which he had had in his possession since 1936, would take standard film.

" 6. As a result of the information received by me in the course of the performance of my official duties in connection with this case, I am reasonably satisfied and have cause to believe that the Leica camera, bearing serial number 234730 above referred to, was properly designed and intended for use and which was used as a means of committing the offenses above described and that it was possessed and controlled and designed and intended for use and used in violation of the Espionage Act (Act of June 15, 1917, as amended). On the basis of such official information in my possession, I have further reasonable cause to believe that the said Ernemann-Bob camera may have been so used.

" 7. Deponent further says that on the 5th day of January, 1949 at the offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Court House, New York City, he had a conversation with the said Jay David Whittaker Chambers, whom deponent knows has given information to the United States Government concerning the matters set forth in the second and third paragraphs of this affidavit, and the same Chambers told deponent that he had furnished government documents to be photographed to a man by the name

"of Felix who lived on Callow Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland and who did photographic work and had a Leica camera; that said Chambers further stated in this same conversation that on January 3rd, 1949 he saw the said person whom he knew as Felix in the United States Court House in New York City and that he then learned that he was known as Felix A. Inslerman; deponent further says that he himself saw the said Felix A. Inslerman in the United States Court House in New York City on the 3rd of January, 1949.

FETTY then said that relative to their discussion about the Bar that it was black mail to threaten him that way and that they will not be able to get away with it. She said that, "It was a lousy trick" to threaten him, to which RUSHORE said, "I wish the dirty s.o.b.'s would threaten me". Mrs. LEWIS said that it was "Some Commie in the State Department who wanted to know who had released the information." RUSHORE said that he wanted to go on record that it was ALGER HISS, who is probably running the State Department and that he, RUSHORE, had a witness who worked for "Time Magazine" who would be willing to get on a witness stand and state that HISS paid dues to the Communist Party for three years. (RUSHORE is probably referring to WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, one of the editors of Time Magazine and former member of the Communist Party. CHAMBERS had been used as an informant relative to Communist matters.)

WHITTAKER CHAMBERS advised on November 21, 1950 that sometime during the latter part of 1936 or early 1937, ALGER and PRISCILLA HISS entertained an individual by the name of [REDACTED] who then worked in the State Department, Washington, D. C. At that time, the HISSes, according to the recollection of CHAMBERS, were residing at their thirtieth Street House, Washington, D. C. CHAMBERS stated at that time the HISSes considered [REDACTED] as potential material for recruitment into the Communist Party underground apparatus which was headed by Chambers. According to CHAMBERS, [REDACTED] was said to have belonged to a group in the State Department who were considered "liberals" and for that reason was selected by the HISSes as a potential Communist. CHAMBERS related that ALGER HISS was never enthusiastic concerning [REDACTED] and could make no progress with him. According to CHAMBERS, no overt statements were made by the HISSes and [REDACTED] did not know the real motive of the approach of the HISSes. CHAMBERS added that in his opinion [REDACTED] was entirely innocent and never knew why he was asked to visit with the HISSes. Chambers was unable to furnish any identifying information concerning [REDACTED] and was unable to recall his first name. (171-25182-14)

ALGER HISS was tried in New York on November 17, 1949. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on January 21, 1950 against ALGER HISS on both counts in the indictment for perjury and HISS was sentenced on January 25, 1950 to five years imprisonment on each of the two counts in the indictment, the sentences to run concurrently. HISS was subsequently released on $10,000 bail pending appeal of the case.

12/11/50

In connection with the information furnished by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS as reflected in Baltimore teletype dated November 22, 1950, it is noted that CHAMBERS merely advised that ALGER HISS selected _____, not further identified, in the State Department as a potential Communist. However, he was unable to make any progress with _____ No overt statements were made by HISS, and according to CHAMBERS, did not even know he was being so considered.

RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION

In the United States District Court for the District of Maryland, Civil No. 4176, in the case of ALGER HISS, Plaintiff, versus WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, Defendant, the following in substance is part of the deposition of WHITTAKER CHAMBERS at Baltimore, Maryland on November 5, 1948:

Mr. WHITTAKER CHAMBERS stated that it was correct that when he came to Washington he was to set up a new apparatus which was to take certain persons out of old groups, for which he was to serve as contact, and to recruit additional persons to operate in the same way. He stated that one of Mr. HISS' activities was to try to draw new people of culture to the apparatus or into the apparatus of which he (CHAMBERS) was organizing.

Mr. CHAMBERS stated it was the purpose of the apparatus to have people, to have its members approach after very careful consideration, anyone whom they felt was a possible recruit. He stated in this regard that Mr. HISS worked on a [redacted] who was a member of the State Department, but that no results were effected. Mr. CHAMBERS said he did not know [redacted] full name. He said that he believed Mr. HISS entertained his possible recruits and believed he was entertained at their houses and, as nearly as he could remember, they discussed various tangential questions like the Spanish Civil War and things of that nature, but that in the case of [redacted] the facts were unsatisfactory for recruitment.

NY 121-9962

ALGER HISS was a former employee of the United States Department of State, who was indicted on December 12, 1948 by a Special Grand Jury of the Southern District of New York on two counts of perjury, first that he falsely testified before the Special Grand Jury that he had not turned over State Department documents to WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, a self-admitted former member of the Communist Party and, second, that he had not had any contact with WHITTAKER CHAMBERS subsequent to January 1, 1937.

On January 20, 1950, ALGER HISS was convicted on both counts of the indictment and on January 25, 1950 was sentenced to five years imprisonment on each count, the sentence to run concurrently.

New York City T-11, of known reliability, advised on September 2, 1946 that ALGER HISS was contacted on several occasions by parties known to him and that [redacted] was one of these and he believed these individuals were all members of the United Nations Assembly in New York.

WHITTAKER CHAMBERS stated that HENRY HILL COLLINS was a member of an original underground group organized by HAROLD WARE among Government employees in Washington, D. C. in the early 1930's. The primary objective at the outset was to place Communists in important positions where they had opportunity for advancement in order to formulate and influence policy along lines sympathetic to Communist interests. CHAMBERS included in this group ALGER and DONALD HISS, JOHN ABT, CHARLES KRALER, VICTOR PERLO, NATHAN WITT, and LEE PRESSMAN in addition to HENRY HILL COLLINS, who acted as treasurer of this group.

HENRY HILL COLLINS was interviewed on December 5, 1948 in the office of the American-Russian Institute, 58 Park Avenue, New York City, which is also Mr. COLLINS' residence, by SA's NORMAN P. BAGWELL and THOMAS G. SPENCER. When questioned concerning his knowledge of WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, he replied that he had been interviewed on several occasions concerning this individual but that during these interviews he had failed to recall any information concerning WHITTAKER CHAMBERS or whether he had ever met this person. He stated that since the recent publicity of Mr. CHAMBERS and Mr. HISS, particularly before the House Un-American Activities Committee, he is now of the definite impression that he saw a person probably identical with WHITTAKER CHAMBERS but who did not use that particular name in Washington, D. C. in the middle 1930's. It was COLLINS' recollection that he saw CHAMBERS on several occasions at cocktail parties and other social affairs in Washington, D. C. and stated that it is possible that CHAMBERS might have been a guest in his, COLLINS', home on such an occasion. COLLINS stated that he remembered CHAMBERS as a newspaper man or a writer of some type or other.

ALGER HISS, in the course of an interview in connection with the allegations made by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, advised that he was acquainted with HENRY HILL COLLINS and had associated with him during his early youth in Maryland. He has since that time been a friend of COLLINS.

Assistant United States Attorney THOMAS MURPHY advised on September 20, 1949 that he had heard from a source which he termed reliable that LAWRENCE DUGGAN, son of STEPHEN DUGGAN, was practically forced by ALGER HISS to accept for employment by the Institute, persons who resigned from the Federal Government during inquiries into their loyalty. HISS supposedly threatened to cut off Carnegie Foundation finances to the Institute.

JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, former editor of the "Daily Worker", an East Coast daily Communist newspaper, advised that ALGER HISS was a member of a "Communist-underground" cell in Washington, D. C. in the 1930's. HISS is currently incarcerated following his conviction for perjury in connection with his Communist activities.

The case proven against the spy HISS is well known. This man, an American, was in the State Department during the war, at the same time as Tolson, in charge of the transmission of information to Russia, influencing American policy in favor of Russia. Among the members of HISS's law firm in New York City, is the brother of HISS.

HISS was appointed to his lucrative and influential position as head of the "Carnegie Endowment for International Peace" by TRUMAN, the man who would have been Secretary of State had HISS been elected president.

IRVING CHAMBERS, a confessed Soviet Espionage Agent, advised that ALGER HISS was a member of a Communist Party underground group operating in Washington in the late 1930s. CHAMBERS advised that HISS made available to him confidential information and documents from the files of the State Department, where he was then employed, knowing that this information would be furnished to CHAMBERS, a Soviet Agent. ALGER HISS denied these allegations publicly before a hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities in August, 1948. On the basis of this testimony in Federal Court for the Southern District of New York, ALGER HISS was indicted and tried for perjury, of which charge he was found guilty by the District Court in the same jurisdiction, and sentenced to serve five years.

On January 13, 1949, WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, a self-admitted former member of the Communist Party, advised that HENRY HILL COLLINS was a member of the original Communist underground apparatus operated by HAROLD WARE in Washington, D.C. CHAMBERS stated that this group was made up of CHARLES KRAMER, VICTOR PERLO, LEE PRESSMAN, NATHAN WITT, ALGER HISS and DONALD HISS. CHAMBERS said that each of these individuals had his own separate cell consisting of ten to twenty persons who were employed in various government agencies in Washington, D.C.

The Alger Hiss Debate

To The Journal: Regarding my television debate with former President Truman, which you covered so well in your columns, Mr. Truman denied that J. Edgar Hoover had ever told him that Harry Dexter White was associated with Soviet espionage.

I replied: "He so stated in his letter to Gen. Vaughan." Mr. Truman's rejoinder was: "No, he didn't. Ever read the letter?" I answered "Yes." The former president then said: "Well, you didn't read it very carefully."

I have before me J. Edgar Hoover's letter to Gen. Vaughan, dated Nov. 8, 1945, as reprinted in U. S. News and World Report (Nov. 27, 1953).

In this letter Mr. Hoover lists Harry Dexter White and Nathan Gregory Silvermaster as among "persons . . . actually the source from which information passing through the Soviet espionage system was being obtained" and describes White and Silvermaster as "participants in this operation or . . . utilized by principals in this ring for the purpose of obtaining data in which the Soviet is interested."

In a subsequent letter, dated Feb. 1, 1946, Mr. Hoover describes White as "a valuable adjunct to an underground Soviet espionage organization operating in Washington, D. C." (Same source.)

In his book, "Witness," Whittaker Chambers writes: "In the persons of Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White, the Soviet military intelligence sat close to the heart of the United States government."

This is the same Hiss that Mr. Truman denied was a Communist spy.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. BELMONT

ADDENDUM:

In analyzing the above information, it would appear that relative to the Alger Hiss case, Winchell is referring to the apparent attempts on the part of the defense to build a typewriter which will have identical characteristics as those of the Hiss typewriter which produced the questioned documents used at the trial. As you know, we have received information on this from our New York Office and are following the activities of the defense in this attempt. We have also called the tactics of the defense to the attention of Mr. Donegan, in order that he may mention these tactics to the court if it appears appropriate.

Congratulations on your effort to get the communists out of the State Department. May I say to you that as far back as 1946 a list containing seven names of communists or fellow travelers in the State Department was circulated. The list was as follows: Dean Acheson, Ben V. DREW PEARSON BRANDED AS LIAR

CONGRESSMAN Lin Wood,
Chairman of the committee on an American spy, denounced gossip monger Drew Pearson as a liar beyond compare and a weapon used by the Communists. When Wood finished his speech, the members of the House of Representatives rose as a body and applauded and cheered loud and long.

Wood called Pearson an "arch liar," "scandal monger," "character assassin," "rogue" and "landscaper."

Wood continued:
Drew Pearson has consistently misrepresented, slandered, and abused every person—man or woman—who,
because of love of country
and constitutional liberty, have raised their voice against the spread of alien ideologies and against those who would overthrow our form of government.

He has been the most effective weapon that the Mallins have been able to use in America for the undermining of our whole constitutional system.

To him there is nothing
under the heavens that is sacred. He betrays and means to betray everything he touches. He occupies the unique and unenviable position today of standing alone at the very pinnacle of all the standovers and scandal mongers in all of American history.

The chief leg man and snoper for Drew Pearson's smear was a Jew by the name of David Katz.
Katz was formerly a staff member of the Communist paper the Daily Worker.

IN his recently published book,
"Lower Prices Coming (Inter-

economist and analyst, states:

"The American middle class got their first real 'knockdown' since the industrial age began, in 1929 and in the four years that followed. The complete failure of the domestic and foreign programs of our so-called statesmen means that our great middle classes—like the fighters—are going down for the second time. Studying what similar pressure has done to the middle classes in other countries, I am convinced that as a result the middle class in this country is going to organize a new political party completely different from the two now existing."

WORLD NEWS SERVICE

News Reports and Political Interpretations compiled
By Nationalist Leaders In All The Major Cities of The World

FROM GERMANY

MUNICH - It has recently been revealed that at the Nuremberg Trials Justice Jackson denied the defense counsel access to printing facilities. The same source ~~has~~ a hitherto unpublished statement by Julius Streicher.

"I was chained, beaten with whips, and thrown to the floor. I was made to kiss the feet of negroes.
I was kept naked in my cell for days. White and colored officers spat into my mouth, and when I closed it they opened it with a stick."

At the Nuremberg Trials this statement of Streicher was held improper by the court and was ordered expunged from the official record of the trials.

BERLIN - The outside world has never been informed that in the famous currency reform in the summer of 1948 Germans were required to exchange their old money for new money at the rate of 10 old marks for 1 new mark. Jews were allowed to exchange theirs at the rate of one for one. Nor is it generally known that any Jew in Germany can reclaim any property he ever possessed - even though he may have sold it to a German in the past, and he need not refund the money.

DACHAU - In a recent "war crimes" trial (still being conducted five years after the close of the war) a German private was condemned to death for the "crime" of having been on guard duty in an interment camp. His service record proved that at the time in question he was at the Russian front.
A Jew witness alleged that the soldier was at the camp - so, he was hanged.

FROM FRANCE

PARIS - Maurice Deleche, one of the intellectual leaders of French nationalism, is imprisoned and to be tried for the unknown crime of "Apology for Hitler. What did he do? He wrote a book entitled "Nuremberg and the Promised Land"
- in the book he told the simple truth about the sadistic trials of the German leaders. He also revealed to the French public that the story of six million dead Jews was merely a concoction of lies publicized by the Jew controlled press. The entire undistributed edition of the book is confiscated by the Jew Minister of Interior, Jules Moch.

PARIS - René Binet, leader of the Social Movement for French Unity and a veteran of the Russian front, has been condemned to two years imprisonment. Eighteen members of the movement were condemned with him. They were convicted of the crime of "gathering elements against Jewish democracy." Binet has appealed the sentence. His organization has been pronounced illegal and ordered dissolved. The Minister of Justice is the Jew René Mayer.

PARIS - "The Use of Stalin," by Imad Mouta, suppressed during the war years, has recently fallen into the hands of our correspondent. On page 14 discussing the parents of Stalin (Bessa and Cato Koutaistchi), Russia states:

"Their marriage was not an affair of love. It was required by the customs of the country. The contract was concluded at Ekhnuski (now called Stalitskisser). The young cobbler Bessa, originally from the hamlet of Telo, had a small cobbler's shop in this village. The father of Cato (Stalin's mother) was a Jew junk peddler in the mountains of Koutaisti. He also had a little novelty shop. Toward the end of the month of December, 1879, Cato brought a son into the world. The exact date of this event is not known with certainty."

FROM EIRE

DUBLIN - Few persons outside of Ireland are aware of the extent of Jewish penetration and control. The Eilmon chain of motion picture houses now extends throughout all Ireland, bringing the source of adult entertainment in Ireland into alien hands.

Another example of Jewish penetration was the Zionist celebration of the foundation of the terror state in Palestine which was held in the Metropole, Dublin's largest social hall. Admission was $10.00 and a Jewish orchestra was brought in from London.

A third example was the election of the Royal College of Physicians of the Jew L. Abrahamson.

DUBLIN - The Irish Communists have had to go to England for a printer for their official organ for Irish youth. One Irish printer after another, after penetrating the camouflage of the frequently changed organization names, have since now-a-days turned them out. On this issue there is almost 100% Irish solidarity, north and south. A short rope for the Reds.

FROM SCOTLAND

GLASGOW - In a public statement made by the Jew M. H. Zwarg stated: "It was the World Jewish Congress which secured the holding of the Nuremberg Trials at which it provided expert advice and valuable evidence. It was the World Jewish Congress that had such lines of communication throughout the war, extending even into the German Foreign Office, that they received information long before the British Secret Service or the American Intelligence did."

FROM PALESTINE

JERUSALEM - Since the formation of the Jewish terror state in Palestine a total of thirty eight Jews have immigrated to Palestine from the United States. 15,000 Jews in Palestine have attempted to get visas allowing them to go to the United States.

FROM ENGLAND

LONDON - Britain has lost 100,000 persons through emigration since the war and has admitted almost the same number of Jews from Europe.

LONDON - Sir Walter Southey, Conservative
M. P., will petition for the removal from office of Strachey (War Secretary) and D. P. Howell (D. League Secretary), both Jews.

MANCHESTER - In a recent address by Anthony Cannon, leader of the European Liberation Front in England, Churchill was reminded of the following remarks he made during the war: "God bless you, Stalin." "Stalin the great." "His great, rugged war chief." "My heart bleeds for Russia.
Their word is their bond."

"I CONFESS, THAT I AM NOT RECONCILED TO THE IDEA OF A CHIEF MAGISTRATE PARADING HIMSELF THROUGH THE SEVERAL STATES AS AN OBJECT OF PUBLIC GAZE AND IN QUEST OF AN APPLAUSE WHICH TO BE VALUABLE SHOULD BE PURELY VOLUNTARY. I HAD RATHER ACQUIRE STEEN I GOOD WILL BY A FAITHFUL DISCHARGE OF MY DUTIES THAN OWE EXPRESSIONS OF IT TO MY PUTTING MYSELF IN THE WAY OF RECEIVING THEM. . . . A JOURNEY TO BOSTON AFTER I SHALL BE A PRIVATE CITIZEN WOULD MUCH BETTER HARMONIZE WITH MY FEELINGS AS WELL AS DUTIES."

From a letter of Thomas Jefferson addressed to the Governor of Massachusetts declining the Governor's invitation to visit Massachusetts.

It was on the day dedicated to the memory of Thomas Jefferson that Harry Truman climaxed his "non-political" tour with a mass meeting in Chicago, Illinois. In a futile attempt to fill the hall it was announced that 10,000 helium filled balloons would be released inside the meeting hall — 2,000 of the balloons contained $2.00 bills.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

CURTIS (BUZZY) DALL, youngest grandson of Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt, announced on the eve of his marriage that he would soon make application to change his name to Roosevelt.

White men, as a race, are proud of their names and the names of their fathers. It is unusual for a White man to change his name unless he is a criminal. Many White Americans received this bit of news with a feeling of disgust and abhorrence, but we must remember that this act is in line with the accepted practices of a whole race, wherever any financial or other advantage would accrue to the Lapschitz's and the Goldbergs never hesitate to throw aside the names of their fathers and take on new ones.

Blood will tell, and the characteristics of a breed will show up sooner or later. In the case of a Roosevelt it is usually sooner.

Secret Government

Dean Lehman is an intimate friend of Frankfurter.

Morgenthau, former Secretary of the Treasury, is credited with authoring the infamous "Whispering Plan" which proposed the slaughter of millions of German women and children by way of wash bombs.

White (born 1922), identified as a Communist spy, was assistant treasury secretary under Morganthau. Morgenthau has been active in the Jewish movement which led to the formation of the Jewish terrorist state in Palestine.

Plot To Destroy Our Nation Approved By GOP Lawmakers

ON Thursday, February 1st, 1945, the House of Representatives passed a Joint Resolution providing for the "Declaration of the Abolition of the United States" which actually calls for the abolishment of the United States.

In 1948 Murray L. Thompson was the unsuccessful candidate of the Republican Party for the office of Governor of the overgrown state of Missouri. Subsequent to February 1st, 1945, this un-American Joint Resolution was passed by both houses of the Missouri Legislature — which at that time was controlled by the Republican Party.

In a personal interview, Thompson said, "I personally took the resolution, after it was passed, and delivered it into the hands of President Truman. Mr. E. R. [redacted], Chairman of the Board of the Plaza Bank in St. Louis, accompanied me."

ABOLISH OUR ARMY

Secretly this resolution was introduced. Secretly it was passed. Secretly this anti-American conspiracy conducted that no record of the passing of this resolution by the State Senate can be found in Jefferson City.

Not one of the St. Louis papers publicized the resolution.

One of the acts demanded by this Joint Resolution is that the United States of America disband its Army.

"No nation should be excluded from membership . . . that is willing to suppress its military, naval and air forces, retaining only a constabulary . . ."

DESTROY OUR NATION

This Republican sponsored and Republican passed resolution next calls for the destruction of our nation and the abolition of our freedom.

"It is better for the world to be ruled by an international sovereignty . . . than by diverse national sovereignties organically incapable of preventing their own dissolution by conquest."

The aim of the Communist Party in Moscow is to establish one government in the world — a Communist World State. It was not the Communists in Missouri, but the Republican Party that passed this resolution requesting that the Congressmen and Senators from Missouri support and vote for a World Government that would destroy the American Army and abolish all American freedom.

It was not an official of the Communist Party, but the candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, who sponsored this treasonable action.

World Government would mean the end of the American Constitution, the scrapping of our Declaration of Independence, and the enslavement of all American citizens to a Government of Asiatics, Communists and colored races.

World Government would mean the establishment of a world court before which any American citizen could be tried by a Judge and jury composed of Asiatics, Communists and anti-Americans.

World Government would mean the replacing of the American Army by a world police force composed of Asiatics, Communists, and anti-Americans.

World Government, in opposing Senator McCarthy's exposure of Communism in the government, and negroes who would patrol the streets of America.

A World Government would have the power to impose confiscatory taxes upon the American people in order to line the pockets of politicians in every nation of the world.

A World Government would mean the end of all immigration laws and the flooding of our United States with Asiatics, and Communists — and with it the destruction of the high living standard we now enjoy.

A World Government would establish a World Church in which the atheism of Communist Russia would have as much say as the Christianity of America and Europe.

Murray L. Thompson and the Republican Legislators were able to spin their web of subversion because the citizens of Missouri were uninformed.

Most of the State Legislators didn't know what they were voting for. You must tell them. Write to your Governor! Write to your State Senator! Write to your State Representative! Demand that this resolution be called up again and voted down.

In November at the polls remember that it was a Republican resolution that calls for the abolishment of the United States.

NATIONALISTS TO MEET IN MASS CONVENTION

Los Angeles, California, to Be Scene of National Convention of Christian Nationalist Crusade.

In the Embassy Auditorium, Los Angeles, California, on the 20-21-22-23 of July, the Christian Nationalist Crusade will hold its third annual convention. 24 speakers, representing Christian Nationalist groups from every section of the United States, will address the delegates. The four day convention will be divided into eight sessions, and close with a gigantic mass rally on the night of Sunday, July 23.

Gerald L. K. Smith, National Director of the Crusade, is issuing the call to assemble, and:

"Today our nation stands at the crossroads. We either sink into Marxist-materialist slavery, or we rise to undreamed of heights of freedom and abundance with a White Christian American way of life. The citizens of America prefer the way of freedom. They are beginning to resist the encroachments upon liberty that come from the bureaucratic cells in Washington, D.C. We must stand firm and fearless as the beacon light to guide our nation up the right road."

The Christian Nationalist Party of Missouri hopes to be able to take a special bus load of delegates to the Convention. Everyone interested in joining this delegation is urged to contact Don Lohbeck, P. O. Box D-4, St. Louis 1, Mo., as quickly as possible. Round trip bus fare on this special bus will be only $10.00 per person. Comfortable hotel accommodations can be arranged for from $1.00 to $10.00 per day.

YOU CAN HELP!

THE CHRISTIAN NATIONALIST PARTY is now a fact!

For the first time in many years the American voter is able to cast his vote AGAINST the destroyers of our nation. For the first time the voter can cast his vote FOR his faith, his race, his nation.

To conduct an active campaign takes money. This money must come from you. Helping the Christian Nationalist Party is the best way that you can help yourself.

Send your contributions to: Christian Nationalist Party, 1533 S. Grand Ave., St. Louis 4, Mo.

During the "War Crimes" trials in Germany a young Jewess appeared as a witness against the German, Kramer, the so-called "Beast of Belsen." She was asked, "Did your husband die at Auschwitz?"

Her reply was: "Yes! We all died at Auschwitz!"

HARRY'S "TEA" PARTY

ON his recent trip to St. Louis Harry Truman was regally entertained by August Busch of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery. The affair was called a tea party.

Among the guests present were all public officials and political parasites of both old political parties who "just had to be seen" in the company of the President.

Twelve bartenders were kept busy serving $8,000.00 worth of whiskey and champagne. This does not include food served — nor does it include the tremendous amounts of beer furnished "on the cuff."

In these days of political and administrative corruption such Raccanalian revels have become common. But, we remember the account of a similar feast that was interrupted by the appearance of a hand which wrote:

"God hath numbered thy kingdom, and finished it. Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting. Thy kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:
I am, at present, a teacher in Minnesota schools. Recently we teachers received a notice that the United States Supreme Court had ruled it unconstitutional to mention religion in school. In July, I personally got into trouble (as did my school board and most of the parents) because I allowed my children to read the Bible in their free time in school, after they had finished with all their work. Our state outline calls for parent help evolution to our children. What can we do?
We are supposed to teach evolution. But, right here in our own country, we can have our teaching certificates revoked and be fined, if we let the children read the Bible. Mr. Fugum, of the St. Paul Department of Education, said that to read the Bible is unconstitutional. I pray that Christian people will write and do something before it is too late. J. H., Minnesota

Dear Sir:
I have a Winchester and can still use it, and will gladly help you "clean house" with admiration. P. T. Missouri

Dear Sir:
I am White, Christian, 21 years of age, and interested in what little I have heard of your party. I read about your organization in the May 1st issue of ATTACK which I received at the State's Rights Convention in Jackson, Mississippi. J. F., Indiana

LIGHTS OUT

On June 27th the following editorial appeared in the Pulitzer owned shopper's guide called the St. Louis Post-Dispatch:

Watching the armies mobilize in 1914, Sir Edward Grey said: "One by one, the lights are going out in Europe."

Watching the demagogues defeat the liberals in 1930, one can only say: "One by one, the lights are going out in the South."

Only the red lights, Mr. Pulitzer. Only the red lights.

MONGRELIZERS RUN WILD IN MISSOURI

Mad Race for Black Votes Paves Way for National Destruction.

POLITICIANS, educators, judges, agitators and corruptionists have joined forces in a mad campaign to corral the black vote for their parties in the coming Missouri election. Never since the days of the carpet bagger and the scalawag has there been such a hysteria of migration and mongrel glorification as has been witnessed in the past several weeks.

It is not a foolish statement that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." If we had been vigilant in America we would have resisted the beginnings of this race mixing campaign. Having failed to resist these beginnings we now must fight a monster that may, perhaps, overwhelm us.

There comes a time when White Christian Americans must say "We will yield no further. Beyond this point we shall not go." And, unless we are willing to surrender the racial purity of our children, unless we are ready to allow the disintegration of our nation, that point has now arrived.

Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair recently ruled, at Jefferson City, that "regardless of state law" negroes must be admitted to all state supported schools of higher learning.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, in a glowing editorial, dared to stand against the white race by saying:

Elimination of racial lines in tax-supported colleges and universities has been a gradual process. But it is taking place, as certainly it should in conformity with democratic principles, fairness and plain economy of school administration. For many years non-segregation in Northern institutions of learning has been common and accepted. The same will be true everywhere before long, and a few generations hence the "issue" will be forgotten.

The temper of the American people is rising. A few years hence it will not be race-mixing but complete segregation that will be accepted. The mass of our citizenry is as opposed to mongrelization as they are to mixing with dogs or cattle. The negro, excepting where he succumbs to the sly promises carelessly tossed out by the politicians, is opposed to race-mixing. The alternative to segregation is not race-mixing — the only alternative to complete separation of the races is a violent upheaval against the corruptionists, the dividers and the agitators.

The dumb white politicians of the old political parties have convinced themselves that to win elections they must control the black vote. As a result they convince the white man to a living hell without concern. But now there is a new party dedicated to never campaigning for a single black ballot — a party that is organizing to be the white man's party.

Our one last chance is the ballot. Every white man, when he votes in November, should remember that he is held in scorn and contempt by the old parties. Cast your vote for your own well

City Collector, Don Lohbeck, Congress, 11th District, J. Morrell Intagliata, Congress, 12th District, Edward Abshier, Congress, 13th District.

Upon receiving official confirmation of the certification of its candidates the following statement was released by party officials:

"The Christian Nationalist Party of Missouri is organized as the political expression of the will of the people of Missouri. We intend to conduct our campaign on the vital issues that concern the continued well being of the American people. These issues are:

1. Segregation of the black and white races.
2. Repeal of the 16th Amendment.
3. Outlawing of the Communist Party.
4. States Rights.

"The entrance of Christian Nationalist candidates into the political field will end the disgraceful period of American politics in which candidates for high public office refused to discuss the basic issues."

Immediately following the August 1 primary election the Christian Nationalist Party will begin an intense campaign that will reach into every Ward in St. Louis and into every County in Missouri.

THEY MEAN IT

Following the decision by Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair to admit blacks into all state supported schools, the following editorial appeared in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

"For many years non-segregation in Northern institutions of learning has been common and accepted. The same will be true everywhere before long, and a few generations hence the 'issue' will be forgotten."

In a personal interview Louis Lohbeck, head of the Globe-Democrat editorial staff, said:

"Hamilton Thoburn wrote the editorial under my direction. It represents the consensus of opinion among our editorial staff."

"Smith opened his address by pointing out that he was not connected with any political party, but was under sponsorship of the Christian Nationalist Crusade. In these opening remarks he mentioned that he had Dr. Claude E. Hill, Pastor of the First Christian Church, Tulsa, Oklahoma, as his guest at dinner Sunday night. He also asked that those who opposed him behave themselves and they would not have any trouble. However, if they acted otherwise they would be helped from the auditorium.

"Smith began his address by declaring Americans were unable to understand the Oriental intrigue that is being conducted by Marxists throughout the world. He said in the United States the greatest danger lies in the professors and teachers who are being produced at Harvard, Columbia, and Chicago Universities to teach our children.

"The first blast at a personality was leveled at Eddie Cantor who performed at Convention Hall, Sunday, October 22, 1950, the night before Smith spoke. 'You thought you were coming to hear a comedian, but actually you came to hear the most shrewd Pro-Marxist in the United States.' He cited his (Smith's) investigation into Hollywood, declaring, 'Motion pictures, radio, and TV are packed with Communists and fellow-travelers.' Smith outlined how Cantor is linked with the Communist movement; how Cantor was at the home of Charlie Chaplin in 1945 when a letter was written and cabled to Joseph Stalin. He said the letter stated that the time the United States recognized the U.S.S.R. was the first step to new horizons for the world. Smith said this cablegram was signed by Chaplin, Cantor, Olivia DeHaviland, John Garfield, Rita Hayworth, Orson Wells, and several other leading Hollywood figures. Smith named seventeen in all. 'The average American just can't keep up with the city slicking game of the Marxists,' he commented.

"Smith then made his first reference to the local newspapers, namely, The Tulsa World and The Tulsa Tribune. He said neither paper had the courage to print his statements. 'Do you know', he said, 'that 99% of the whites in Tulsa do not want negroes mixing with whites in schools?' He then said he was not making anti-Semitic remarks, but said, 'I don't want a bunch of Zionists to rule the country or Americans to lose racial self-respect.'

✓ "He turned again to Hollywood, telling of a picket line that was led by Cantor and Edward G. Robinson when he was scheduled to speak in a High School Auditorium. He said the picket line, which he called 'a lynch mob', contained 20,000 Communists or sympathizers. He said this proved Robinson and Cantor are in the orbit of Stalin propoganda. He then turned to his wife who was on the stage and asked, 'Who was the little wheezy fellow who received a medal from the Young Communist League in the mid-1940's when he declared he was going to run me (Smith) out of the country?' He was referring to Frank Sinatra whom Smith said received the medal as 'Young Man of the Year.'

"Smith then began his discourse on the 'Roosevelt Treason', but first he mentioned his recent trip to San Francisco where he learned that little school children had to wear tags in order that they might be identified in the event of an atom bombing. Smith then declared that his enemies were popular, naming Walter Winchell, Olivia DeHaviland, Frank Sinatra and others. He then intimated men like himself were unpopular, and in the same vein mentioned United States Senator Joseph McCarthy. He then said he was going to give a birdseye view of several events. He began outlining the connection between England's Socialism and Communism. Discussing the European situation he said, 'France, Italy and Germany are strongholds of Communism.' He said the British economic leaders were students of Harold Laski, British Socialist Leader who died recently. He said Laski was a bosom buddy of Marxism. He continued by saying America was closely linked with the Socialistic-Communitic movement since Felix Frankfurter, U.S. Supreme Court Justice, was a Jew and Marxist advocate. He said the Justice and any President who allowed him to sit on the bench should be impeached.

"Smith declared FDR as a villian, explaining why he continued to pick on a man that was dead, 'His ghosts are running for office across the nation,' Smith laughed. 'Any person with a mature mind, a student of history who has studied his history, and who says FDR was honest, hasn't caught up on his studies,' Smith said.

"He then began his discourse on Eleanor Roosevelt. 'The only good thing I can say about Eleanor is that she gave her old gold teeth to the Elks Lodge,' Smith said. 'She has done more to hurt the United States than all the Communists in the nation, because she has invaded the sanctuary of the white family.' He then linked Eleanor with Paul Robeson, the negro singer and admitted Communist. 'She is a bad old girl,' he added. He said Eleanor has repeatedly entertained Communists at the White House.

62-43818-1015

"Smith then turned to the United Nations, declaring 'this country needs no new flag.' (He was referring to the raising of a United Nations flag the following day over the Tulsa County Courthouse.) He said, 'Stalin owns a portion of that flag, and I want no part of the flag as long as Stalin is a member of the United Nations.'

"He made his first statement in regard to the Roosevelt Treason by declaring that Henry Morgenthau, former Secretary of the Treasury, gave the Russians original plates of U.S. Currency in order that the Russians might print U.S. Currency. He said this was done at Roosevelt's command. 'These plates,' he said, 'produced $12,000,000,000 of U.S. Currency. Jew money traders obtained this money and came to the United States buying the syndicates.'

"In a second phase of the Roosevelt Treason, Smith referred to the refusal of the United States to give Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek what Smith said was enough munitions to arm 1,000 men at the close of World War II. He said the United States also refused to give Chiang Kai-Shek munitions captured from Germany. He intimated Chiang Kai-Shek would have fought the Reds in Korea with the guns and equipment we refused him, but gave to the Russians. General George Marshall, former Secretary of State, he said was a well-trained Roosevelt aide, who commented, 'I just disarmed 29 Chinese divisions by refusing to hand Chiang Kai-Shek those weapons when I signed the measure refusing the munitions.' In the same vein Smith said Marshall, at Roosevelt's orders, stopped a convoy of weapons being sent to China and ordered the weapons dumped in the ocean. He declared a youth came to him at a recent meeting and said he helped push one of those $200,000 tanks into the water.

pe { "The third phase of the Roosevelt Treason, Smith said, was the Yalta Conference; to which Chiang Kai-Shek was not invited. In this instance the former President took with him a super-expert, Alger Hiss, to advise him on the Far East. At this meeting Roosevelt agreed to give Stalin the Orient. He added this decision was made with the advice of Hiss, whom Smith tagged the Number One Traitor of American History, because he gave secret Government information to the Reds. He then diverted somewhat from his thesis of the Roosevelt Treason to mention that L. Burt Thomas, Utah Senator and head of the Senate Military Affairs Committee was Master of Ceremonies at the Communist dinner at which funds were raised to finance the leading Red organ in this country. (He mentioned a publication other than the Daily Worker).

"Smith again turned to the local newspaper scene declaring N. G. Benthorne, Editor of the Tulsa Daily World is not a Communist, but a good American. 'Mr. Richard Lloyd Jones, Publisher of the Tulsa Tribune, also is not a Communist, but a good American. But neither the World nor the Tribune will print my speech tomorrow, because they are both afraid of the Jews.' He said one paper has declared the only time they will quote him is when he dies. He referred to the papers, their editors, and backers, as cowards who are afraid to print the truth as he spoke it, but someone must let these things be known, and that is what I have dedicated my life to, he said.

"He then turned to the Truman-McArthur meeting at Wake. He said McArthur had forgotten more about the Orient than all the politicians would ever know. 'Truman went to Wake to keep McArthur from returning to this country before the elections and telling people what is going on,' he said. He referred to the recent gagging of McArthur when he was asked to address the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention; indicating McArthur was going to reveal some top secrets.

"Again, he attacked the United Nations, declaring it was a plot to destroy the Americans and a show run by the Reds. He said, 'Harry Truman is a little guy who is playing the piano downstairs and doesn't know what is going on upstairs'. He said he felt sorry for Truman, whom he thought was a man who would have signed a recent anti-Communist law rather than veto the law.

"He then continued his upbraiding of Roosevelt and gave his final step in the Roosevelt plot. He said David Lillenthal was a Jew New Dealer, and a member of two Red organizations five years before he became Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He said Lillenthal got two of his Jew Buddies on the Atomic Energy Commission (One man he referred to was Professor Oppenheimer from the University of Indiana, and a Jewish educator from the University of Chicago).

"He outlined how Dr. Fuchs, the British scientist, gave information the Reds needed from Los Alamos. Smith said Dr. Fuchs was freed from a Canadian prison on the recommendation of Dr. Albert Einstein. Also, 'Dr. Albert Einstein is one of Stalin's seven best friends in America,' Smith said.

"Smith then said he knew why Harry Truman could not have his way. He said the United States Government is not run by the President and Congress, but by three men, all Jews, who compose a little Government about which we never hear. He said these three men are: No. 1 - David Lillenthal. No. 2 - Felix Frankfurter. No. 3 - Herbert Lehmann, United States Senator from New York.

62-43818-1015

11/20/50

"During his address Smith also made reference to Dean Acheson, Secretary of State. He said Acheson was an associate of Alger Hiss, and said Mrs. Acheson was Chairman of a Committee that collected bond and lawyer money for Hiss. He made passing remarks that would lead the audience to believe he (Acheson) was a right hand assistant to Joseph Stalin.

"In closing Smith said, 'There is an immediate danger of Communistic rule when the newspapers won't print what I have said tonight.' He made a few brief remarks concerning his movement and what it desires. He mentioned he wanted a Government founded on patriotism and Christianity, with room for the unbelievers, but he did not elaborate.

"During his address he frequently referred to how he had been smeared, but would rather die than not be heard. He also said that he is a Crusader, who is unpopular because he speaks the truth, and that he is an 'old-fashioned American'.

"Smith closed with his plea for funds using an angle about an Irishman in Dublin, Ireland who had volunteered to mail subscribers a copy of a recent Chicago Tribune article that exposes Communism in the Federal Government. He said all copies of the paper have been destroyed, but he has two copies and photostats of the paper, but could not distribute the photostats as he has been threatened. He also promised 18 other pieces of literature to those making $10 monthly pledges; a smaller amount of literature for a $5 pledge; and a still less amount of literature for a $1 pledge.

"This meeting was attended by approximately 700 people and possibly 12 or 15 Negroes. The meeting was orderly and no incidents or disturbances occurred."

This source further stated that Alger and Donald Hiss were members of the Communist underground organization.

An acquaintance of Alger and Donald Hiss has reportedly stated that at one time he heard Alger and Donald Hiss were classed as "fellow travelers," but that he was not aware of the basis of this allegation. (201-2000-5)

Msgr. Sheen Giving Instructions In Catholicism to Donald Hiss

Donald Hiss, brother of Alger Hiss, convicted perjurer spy, is receiving instructions in the Catholic church from the Right Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, it was learned yesterday.

An official of Catholic university said Hiss has been receiving instructions for some months. However, he was not certain Hiss will become a convert.

Sheen has brought many converts into the church. Among them were the late Heywood

Brown, and Clare Booth Luce, former representative and wife of Henry Luce, publisher.

Donald Hiss is a member of the law firm of Acheson, Rublee, Burling, O'Brian and Shorb, the former law firm of Secretary of State Acheson, firm friend of Alger.

Donald, like his brother Alger, is an Episcopalian. Both were in the State department. Donald was once chief of a bureau and higher in rank than his brother. Alger passed him by to become assistant secretary of state.

Dear WW:

Please spare us the sob stuff about Donald Hiss and family suffering for brother Alger's sins! Donald incurred plenty of bad odor entirely on his own account, by reason of his own smelly Red associations, and his willingness to take Red money for legal work in the interests of the Soviet Slave State in Poland. (Your column June 7 - Albany Times-Union)

There is strong suspicion that Donald may have been a member of the Harold Ware cell -- at any rate, he played around with members of that select group, - and never felt any nausea over helping to sell the Poles down the river, for money!

Too bad Donald didn't take into account in those days, just how all this was going to look to his countrymen when they finally got their eyes opened! He asked for it, Walter, and he can't blame it all on Alger, either! And nobody knows this any better than WW!

Maybe it would have been objective reporting, (and therefore "dull") for WW to have accompanied his note about Donald's present discomfiture with a few of the foregoing facts in the picture! Presumably it is better to be "bright" though one-sided, than "dull" and "objective"! (Column June 5).

Yours for a little more of that "dull" reporting, please!

PURPOSE

Donald Hiss is the brother of Alger Hiss. CH

Whittaker Chambers mentioned Donald Hiss during his lengthy interview with New York agents in early 1949. He named him as a member of the CP underground in 1934-1938 in Washington, D. C., but definitely stated that he never received any State Department documents from Donald Hiss nor did he have any knowledge of Donald Hiss furnishing any documents or information to anyone else.

WFO-101-607

Questionnaire, included among the members of his family his wife ~~CATHERINE GIBBY~~ HISS, a son BOSLBY, born November 29, 1941, his mother living in Baltimore, Maryland, a brother ALGER, living 3415 Volta Place, Washington, D. C., and a sister ANNA (last name not listed), age 50, residing 1503 West 32nd Street, Austin, Texas. He indicated that his wife had worked for Hanna Inc., Baltimore, Maryland, selling linen in Baltimore, New York, and Philadelphia.

101-4300-38

said that he worked with ALGER HISS before becoming acquainted with DONALD HISS. He considered the latter more volatile than ALGER HISS and more likely to express (and usually did) what was on his mind. He said that stated, of the group of persons mentioned by CHAMBERS in the ALGER HISS Testimony, he himself knew of HENRY-COLLINS because of the necessity for trying to clear certain papers through the NRA where COLLINS worked.

101-4300-38

The names of other members of the Ware Group were mentioned, and he said they meant nothing to him except names which came up in the HISS Trial.

 commented that DONALD HISS was not as smooth or diplomatic as ALGER HISS. He said he did not know if the brothers were closely associated with one another but there was no outward evidence to him that DONALD HISS dominated his brother.

101-4300-38

advised that never, at any time, had he heard rumors or reports to link the HISS brothers with subversive activities or subversive associations. He stated the famous "List" did not come to his attention. He meant by this, the names provided by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS to ADOLF BERLE in 1939, which included the HISS brothers.

advised that he was not acquainted with any of the WARE Group mentioned in the testimony of WHITTAKER CHAMBERS. He likewise had no knowledge as to whether DONALD HISS knew any of them. He said that in makeup of character, DONALD HISS was a more glib person and ALGER HISS the more brilliant of the two brothers. The latter was in the Far Eastern Division, and was pushed by STEPPINIUS and was not so well known to him as DONALD.

8/22/52

— said that he was very surprised when the ALGER HISS case came to trial as there was no indication of disloyalty on the part of either brother.

101-4300-38

8/22/52

stated that, although he knew of DONALD HISS and ALGER HISS as did almost anybody in the State Department, he certainly was not personally acquainted with DONALD HISS and would not be in a position to provide any information concerning him.

101-4300-38

claimed he knew ALGER HISS but not very closely. He did not think the two brothers were close to one another because their wives did not get along very well. As an explanation, he said Mrs. DONALD HISS, nee JONES, was a society girl from a good Baltimore family while Mrs. ALGER HISS was a career girl. MILLER said he had a sincere admiration for Mrs. CATHERINE HISS and considers her "just as fine a person as her husband." He stated that the ALGER HISS trial visibly affected and depressed DONALD HISS but that he is bearing up very well and doing a good job in the law firm of Covington and Burling according to his understanding. He said HISS turned to the private law practice because of his shattered health.

101-4300-38

advised he was extremely interested in the ALGER HISS Trial as he knew ALGER casually and he made it a point to attend one of the public sessions of that trial. He said he would be astounded if any of the allegations were true with regard to DONALD HISS's being involved in any un-American activity.

stated he saw ALGER HISS only once other than brief social meetings and this was to determine whether he wanted to give up his job and become connected with the United Nations. At the time ALGER HISS held a job of high importance in the United Nations picture but HISS intimated to him he was not going to stay in that job and that should talk to his successor rather than to him. related he did not feel this was a satisfactory interview with HISS looking at it from his own viewpoint because he rather expected ALGER HISS to be helpful.

He said that ABT, FERLO, and KRAMER were not known to him until their names arose in the HISS Trial.

101-4300-38

8/22/52

In prefacing his remarks _____ stated that everything knew of DONALD HISS would be favorable. He alluded to the ALGER HISS trial. This trial and its revelations came as a distinct shock to him since in all his contact with DONALD HISS there was nothing remotely suggesting that he was a Communist.

He believed this was a year or two before the ALGER HISS Trial because it stuck in his mind when the trial came about later on.

101-4300-38

8/22/52

101-107

declared he knew ALGER HISS but very old. He had never seen the two brothers together that he could recall. He had no impression that ALGER HISS controlled or dominated his brother.

no thought was in ALGER's law class at Harvard University.

_____ that even during these contacts DONALD HISS was obviously upset over his brother's conviction in New York _____ explained

101-4300-45

9/17/52

He said DONALD HISS apparently was not closely tied to his brother, ALGER, and partly the reason was due to friction between the respective wives. He emphatically believed ~~ALGER HISS~~ had little influence with his brother, as the latter was a person of definite convictions of his own. He stated he would trust DONALD HISS to almost any extent, while ALGER was inscrutable and reminded him of a "Budda." He recalled that he saw ALGER HISS at DONALD's home on only one occasion out of the numerous times he was there. A man named CLARK FOREMAN was with ALGER HISS on this occasion, which he believed was in 1944.

101-4300-48

He said that since the ALGER HISS trial and allegations regarding DONALD HISS, he had given the matter a great deal of thought, but could not put his finger on anything to indicate that HISS was not 100 per cent loyal.

stated that he was in ALGER HISS's law class at Harvard, and therefore, knew of LEE PRESSMAN. He said he was not familiar with whether DONALD HISS knew LEE PRESSMAN or other members of the so-called "Ware Group" as described by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS.

advised he first knew ALGER HISS before he became acquainted with DONALD HISS, since he and ALGER were both on the Law Review Staff at Harvard Law School.

had the impression that ALGER HISS and his brother were not close to one another, but concluded he was not in the best position to have reached such an impression.

related that when the case concerning ALGER HISS came before the public, he felt DONALD HISS was not connected in any way with the activities charged to the HISS brothers. He said he did not feel the same way about ALGER HISS, whom he had met through DONALD, for he felt ALGER was a weaker individual and there was an unusual secretive side to him so that no one could get very close to him.

remarked he and other friends noted it was strange that none of them were ever invited to ALGER's home and never saw ALGER or his wife at DONALD HISS's house.

According to ALGER HISS was a member of the National Lawyers Guild, to the best of his recollection, but he was positive DONALD HISS never joined that group.

100-4300-48

2/21/49

He is reported to have further stated that ALGER HISS, presently under indictment at New York City in connection with testimony before a Federal Grand Jury at New York City and whose name has been identified in connection with information provided by JAY DAVID MITTAKER CHAMBERS involving the removal of government documents, was a Harvard man with whom he was sympathetic.

SYNOPSIS

"Meet The Press" program, November 15, 1953, had as its guest T. Lamar Caudle, introduced as Head of Criminal Division, Department of Justice, 1945-1947, one of the individuals in the Department who received FBI reports on Harry Dexter White. Lawrence Spivak, moderator, and guests on panel were Ed Folliard, Washington Post; Ned Brooks, Richard Wilson and Mr. Brandt. Caudle questioned as to whether he was consulted regarding allegation that White was promoted to keep in Government. Answered negative but stated could have been such an arrangement. Questioned in detail concerning report but did not recall details; did recall report came from Bureau to him by special messenger and he was alarmed and felt something should be done. Explained Bureau being a fact-finding agency which only presented facts and does not make recommendations or evaluations. Also mentioned briefly how informants are handled in the reports. With regard to initial report he received, stated he wanted to be sure that it got to the President and immediately attempted to contact Attorney General Tom Clark who was at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore for physical; but Caudle got report to him that afternoon. Was questioned regarding White not being indicted by Grand Jury and explained indictment would have been hard to get. Also questioned as to whether Director operated on his own or under Department direction. State Director operated on his own; but that Department frequently made suggestions or recommendations if necessary. Questioning then drifted away from White case and Caudle was questioned concerning Hiss case and Amerasia case but gave no pertinent answers. Also questioned as to whether the Attorney General ever put pressure on him concerning handling of investigations and he answered emphatically no.

DETAILS

T. Lamar Caudle was guest on "Meet The Press" program on November 15, 1953. He was introduced to the television audience as the Head of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice from 1945 to 1947, and the man to whom the FBI report on White initially came to in the Department.

Lawrence Spivak was moderator and the guests who did the interrogation were Ed Folliard, Ned Brooks, Richard Wilson and Mr. Brandt.

The first question put to Mr. Caudle was that there were rumors that White had been purposely promoted to keep him in Government to get further evidence on his activities. Caudle was asked if he was ever consulted regarding such an arrangement. He stated no, although there could have been such an arrangement. He enlarged upon this by stating that espionage investigations are kept so secret that it was possible that in such an investigation he would never know what was done.

He was asked whether or not the report obtained said White was a spy or engaged in spying. Caudle stated he did not recall, that the reports came to him by special messenger, he recalled that the contents alarmed him and he knew that if the information contained in it were true, something should be done about it.

Folliard of the Washington Post then stated that the Washington Post had been told by a competent person that the report did not mention spying, that Attorney General Brownell had just inserted this in the facts. To this question Caudle explained that the FBI is a fact-finding agency, that they only present the facts and you draw your own conclusions. In regard to an additional question as to whether the FBI made any recommendations or evaluations, he again explained that the FBI is a fact-finding agency and never makes recommendations.

Numerous questions were then put to him as to the source of the material, and he explained briefly the FBI's procedure of not identifying informants other than to state that they are reliable or not. He was then asked as to whether or not the report referred to any Russians. He stated he couldn't recall although he did recall that names were mentioned in the report.

November 16, 1953

He stated the report did deal with the passing of information and if true was a severe condemnation of Harry Dexter White. He said he was alarmed when he read it and wanted to be sure it got to the President. He said he did not know whether Attorney General Clark had gotten a copy and so he immediately called him only to find out that Clark was at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore for a physical. Caudle said he called Clark there and Clark told him he would be back that afternoon. Caudle said he gave the report to Clark that same afternoon but could not ever recall discussing it with him later. He said the report to him was a "red flag" to do something about it, and there was nothing in the report adequate to present to a Grand Jury; but if the statements in it were true, White was not fit for public office.

Numerous questions were then put to him regarding the fact that White had not been indicted by a Grand Jury. He explained that it would have been very hard for the FBI to get an indictment as they would have to have proof that White had actually delivered classified information and would have to have witnesses.

He was asked if the Director operated on his own or under the Attorney General's direction. He stated that Mr. Hoover operated on his own but the Department frequently gave suggestions or recommendations if they thought additional investigation was necessary in a case.

The questions drifted away from the White case and Folliard of the Washington Post asked him, Caudle, if he ever recalled reading reports concerning Alger Hiss when he was head of the Criminal Division. Caudle said he could not recall any report dealing exclusively with Hiss; but did recall his name in some of the reports but couldn't remember exactly what they pertained to. He was then asked his connection with the Amerasia case. Caudle said he had no connection with it as the indictments had already been returned when he took office.

Numerous questions were put to him concerning whether or not Attorney General Clark had ever brought any pressure to bear on him to stop or delay any investigations. Caudle emphatically said no, that Clark never made any efforts to interfere with his activities or prosecution of a case.

Subject, on April 5, 1949, pursuant to Bureau authority granted March 22, 1949, was interviewed by the writer and Special Agent EDWARD E. HUBNER concerning her knowledge of either ALGER HISS or WHITTAKER CHAMBERS. At this time she advised that she had been employed in Washington, D. C. by the Government from approximately 1932 until 1936, with the Labor Advisory Board. It was while so employed that she made the acquaintance of JOHN ABT, ABRAHAM GEORGE SILVERMAN, VICTOR PERLO, NATHAN WETT, HENRY HILL COLLINS, and CHARLES KRAMER. It is noted that all of the above persons were identified by either or both ELIZABETH T. BENTLEY and WHITTAKER CHAMBERS in their testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities during the Summer of 1948, as being members of the elite Communist Government Group or as having been engaged in a Soviet Espionage Conspiracy on behalf of the Soviet Union during the late 1930s and early 1940s. [REDACTED] emphasized that her friendship with the above individuals was based on personal contact at her place of employment, the Labor Advisory Board of the National Recovery Administration, and from contact with these individuals at Union meetings which were held in the homes of various members. She denied that these Union meetings were actually Communist Party meetings. While polite at all times during the interview, [REDACTED] was very uncooperative.

This choice of employees of the Presentation Branch for such work was not, Informant said, at the suggestion of the Office of Strategic Services, and that inquiry by the Office of Strategic Services disclosed that the request for the services of the Presentation Branch at the United Nations Conference had been made by ALLEN HISS, then Assistant Undersecretary of the Department of State.

White House Aide Accused As Ex-Red

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

Charges of communism in both the White House and the State department seized the Senate's attention yesterday. The twin developments:

1. Sen. McCarthy (R) of Wisconsin, in a Senate speech, revealed loyalty board files on Philico Nash, 42, a $17,500 adviser to President Truman, which showed that Nash had been accused of membership in the Communist party "in close contact with the Communist underground in Washington" and whose former home in Toronto, had been used by a Canadian spy ring in the early 40s as a rendezvous.

Rosinger Testifies

2. The Senate internal security subcommittee heard Lawrence K. Rosinger, one of State Secretary Acheson's China policy advisers in 1949, refuse to answer the testimony of three previous witnesses that he was a Communist party member. Rosinger pleaded possible self-incrimination. He also refused to discuss his relationships with a number of individuals, in the government and out, on the ground that he might involve himself in trouble with the law.

Nash, McCarthy's White House target, succeeded David K. Niles as an assistant to the President in charge of advising on "minority problems."

He was a lecturer on anthropology at the University of Toronto from 1937 to 1941, then came to Washington as special assistant to the director of the domestic branch of the office of war information. He was assigned to the White House on June 7, 1941, from the OWI.

The White House loyalty board cleared Nash some time ago," McCarthy declared. "Thereafter, the FBI conducted a thoro investigation. Ten separate reports were made and sent to the White House loyalty review board.

Called Friend of Reds

"After the White House cleared Nash, the review board asked for a new hearing. Shortly thereafter, Donald Dawson (White House administrative assistant on personnel) called for the complete files which were sent to the White House and never have been returned to the review board."

The FBI reports, said McCarthy, reading from documents, said Nash had been a close friend and close associate of one of the convicted Canadian Communists.

"During the early 40s," he continued, "parts of the Communist spy ring in Toronto were using his home as a rendezvous and some of them were living there. Nash was attending Communist meetings and had officially joined the Communist party. The reports also show that he had been in close contact with the Communist underground in Washington."

McCarthy said he "assumed" Mr. Truman had never seen the BIF reports. He suggested that the President call upon Dawson for the file and after reading it get rid of Nash.

From Nash in the White House came a denunciation of the charges as "a contemptible lie." He denied ever having been a Communist party member and blamed his sister's anti-McCarthy activities for the senator's blast.

The Senate subcommittee's questioning of Rosinger, 36, now a free-lance writer, was featured by his sparring with acting chairman Ferguson (R) of Michigan. At the end, Ferguson said pending legislation, compelling witnesses to testify before congressional committees by granting them immunity from future prosecution, must be approved quickly if the investigating processes are to continue.

Rosinger was confronted by subcommittee counsel Robert Morris with earlier testimony of William Cannine, Karl Wittfogel and Louis Budenz that Rosinger had been a Communist party member and was known to them as such. He asked if he was now or ever had been a Communist.

"I respectfully decline to answer, relying on my privilege under the fifth amendment to the Constitution," he answered.

Admits Knowing Some

Rosinger was asked concerning his relationships with persons identified as Communists before the subcommittee and with other persons not thus identified. He pleaded possible self-incrimination in refusing to answer questions about a number of persons, but freely conceded his acquaintance with others.

Among those about whom he refused to testify were Alger Hiss, State department official serving a five-year sentence for perjury to conceal espionage; Frederick V. Field, financial sponsor of Communist movements; Andrew Roth, a Navy lieutenant involved in the Amerasia espionage case of 1945; Julian Wadleigh, a State department officer who confessed espionage during the Hiss trial, and many others of lesser note.

The witness said he knew Ambassador Jessup only slightly. He at first denied knowing John S. Service, diplomat recently fired after a loyalty board hearing, but later admitted having met him once or twice.

Memorandum for Mr. Boardman

[REDACTED]

NICHOLL SAID:

"New York City. There is a movement now underway to rehabilitate Alger Hiss with the public. It was given added impetus the other night following Federal Judge Keech's directed acquittal of Aldo Icardi. Icardi was acquitted of perjury before a Congressional committee. The theme of the drive to clean up Alger Hiss will be made by certain commentators and newspaper writers....Men who operate in the left field....They will tell you that Uncle Sam couldn't get Hiss on espionage, so he was railroaded, they will tell you, for perjury. The Hiss engagement to speak before the Princeton group is the starting point.

The man behind the scenes is a deadly enemy -- a longtime deadly enemy -- of your FBI and John Edgar Hoover. A White House favorite when Mr. Truman was the President."

COMMENT:

Mr. Nichols advised that the individual referred to by Nicholl is undoubtedly ~~Marvin~~ Marvin Lowenthal who is the author of "The Federal Bureau of Investigation," a very anti-FBI publication. Lowenthal's anti-FBI activities and writings are well known to us.

Reference is made to the case entitled "JAY DAVID WITTENBERG CHAMBERS, was; ALGER HISS - PERJURY, ESPIONAGE - R, INTERNAL SECURITY - R", Bureau File No. #74-1333. In the report of [REDACTED], dated January 21, 1949, at New York, it is noted that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED], Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, made available among others, a copy of a letter dated January 2, 1947 to BLACKWELL SMITH signed by HISS. A review of the above file in the New York Office also reflected that HISS and the applicant were simultaneously employed as attorneys by Cotton, Franklin, Wright and Gordon, 63 Wall Street, New York, in 1932 and 1933. In the report of [REDACTED], dated May 17, 1949, at New York, it is noted that SMITH was interviewed by [REDACTED] of the New York Office concerning ABRAHAM GEORGE SILVERMAN, a subject of the above case, and a former H.R.A. employee. At this time SMITH advised that he did not recall SILVERMAN, and stated that he was unable to furnish any information concerning him.

In connection with the above, the applicant's [REDACTED] [REDACTED], who stated that he was a former attorney with the Criminal and Anti-Trust Divisions of the Department of Justice, advised that he knew of SMITH'S employment with Cotton, Franklin, Wright and Gordon at the same time HISS was also employed there. [REDACTED] stated that from SMITH'S comments during the recent HISS trial, he gathered that SMITH was surprised that HISS had apparently engaged in "such activities", and he quoted SMITH as saying, "I certainly misjudged him", i.e. HISS. [REDACTED] further volunteered the information that "despite SMITH'S high position in New Deal circles, he was strictly not a member of any questionable groups; he is conservative and very anti-Communist".

[REDACTED]

During an investigation by this office in February, 1949, Special Agent [REDACTED] interviewed Mrs. CLARA HUUS, at which time Mrs. HUUS advised "she is considered a friend of Mrs. HISS, and when the publicity in this matter broke in the papers she wrote PRISCILLA HISS inviting her to stay at her home in Georgetown if she, Mrs. HISS, should ever come to Washington to attend any Congressional hearings, etc."

On January 21, 1950, ALGER HISS was convicted of Perjury as a result of his testimony before a New York Grand Jury in which he denied having furnished confidential documents, which he had obtained through the course of official business at the Department of State, to WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, an admitted former member of the Communist Party, to be used in a Soviet Espionage Conspiracy; and secondly, he denied having seen WHITTAKER CHAMBERS after January 1, 1937.

On January 25, 1950, ALGER HISS was sentenced to five years' imprisonment on each of the two counts in the indictment, the sentences to run concurrently. On January 25, 1950, HISS was released on $10,000.00 bail bond pending appeal of the conviction.

II. CONNECTIONS WITH THE COMMUNIST PARTY

A. WHITTAKER CHAMBERS

During interviews in the New York Office during January, February and March, 1949, WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, a self-confessed former Soviet espionage agent, advised SA THOMAS G. SPENCER and SA FRANCIS X. PLANT that HENRY HILL COLLINS, JR. was a member of the original Communist underground apparatus, operated by HAROLD WARE in Washington, D. C. in the 1930's.

CHAMBERS advised that this apparatus was made up of CHARLES KRAMER, VICTOR PERLO, LEE PRESSMAN, NATHAN WITT, ALGER HISS, DONALD HISS and the subject. CHAMBERS stated that each of these individuals had his own separate Communist cell consisting of from ten to twenty persons who were employed in various government agencies in Washington, D. C. CHAMBERS stated that the principal meeting place of the apparatus was in the apartment of the subject and that the subject was the treasurer of the apparatus. CHAMBERS stated that at that time (in the 1930's) the above individuals were not abstracting documents from the various government agencies wherein they were employed, but were placed so that their services might be used in the event an opportunity arose. CHAMBERS stated that members of the apparatus in Washington were not supposed to have Communist literature in their homes and that the "Daily Worker" was picked up in Washington in several drugstores. It was CHAMBERS' recollection that either the subject or ALGER HISS would make these pick-ups.

CHAMBERS advised that shortly after he had introduced ALGER HISS to Colonel BORIS BYKOV, in the Spring of 1937, he also introduced the subject to BYKOV. The meeting between CHAMBERS, BYKOV and the subject took place

3/8/56

He stated that since the recent publicity of CHAMBERS and ALGER HISS, particularly before the House Un-American Activities Committee, he had come to the definite impression that he saw a person probably identical with WHITTAKER CHAMBERS in Washington, D. C. in the middle 1930's.

3/8/56

T-10 met ALGER HISS through an introduction by COLLINS in Washington, D. C. in 1940. T-10 said COLLINS frequently visited ALGER HISS at his home in the Georgetown section of Washington, D. C. COLLINS stated to T-10 that ALGER HISS was a "vitally important person" to the Communist Party.

PERJURY

Perjury Before Grand Jury. United States v. Alger Niss, Southern District of New York. On January 21, 1950, the defendant was found guilty of perjury in the District Court for the Southern District of New York. In a two-count indictment it was charged that on December 15, 1949, he testified falsely before a grand jury which was conducting an investigation into possible violation of the espionage laws of the United States and any other federal criminal statutes. The first trial beginning on May 31, 1949, ended in a disagreement of the jury and a mistrial was declared on July 8, 1949. The retrial began on November 17, 1949. Hiss was sentenced to imprisonment for five years. He has filed notice of appeal and is free on $10,000 bond. This case for a number of reasons has been of unusual interest and has commanded nation-wide attention. It is believed to be the first federal criminal proceeding in which psychiatric testimony was admitted for the purpose of impeaching a prosecution witness whose credibility was one of the principal issues.

The case was prosecuted by Thomas F. Murphy, Assistant United States Attorney, Southern District of New York, Thomas E. Donegan, Special Assistant to the Attorney General and Assistant United States Attorney Clarke S. Ryan.

Confidential informant Washington T-5, of known reliability, advised during 1946 that ALGER HISS was acquainted with HUBERT BARTON but the informant was not aware of the extent of this relationship.

ALGER HISS has been convicted for perjury on charges made by JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, a self-admitted former Soviet Espionage Agent, to the effect that ALGER HISS had furnished CHAMBERS with confidential and secret documents from the files of the State Department, where HISS was then employed.

WEYL stated that at the time he became associated with the underground Communist group, headed by HAROLD WARE, the membership consisted of seven individuals in addition to HAROLD WARE; namely: LEE PRESSMAN, ALGER HISS, JOHN ABT, NATHAN WITT, HENRY COLLINS, JOHN DONOVAN and VICTOR PERLO. Shortly after WEYL joined the Communist group, CHARLES KRAMER, whom WEYL stated he knew as CHARLES KRIVITSKY, became attached to this group. HISS, ABT, PRESSMAN, WITT, KRAMER and WEYL were all employed by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration

ALGER HISS at the time of WARE's affiliation with this group was an employee of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration but WEYL was not employed in the same section. In his discussion with ALGER HISS, he found him to be intelligent, well informed and very sure of himself upon all occasions. He also stated that HISS was very quiet and slow though sound in making up his mind. He thought he was possibly less brilliant than men like ABT and PRESSMAN and did not think HISS an original thinker. He expressed the opinion that in view of HISS' recent defense that he had determined to remain a Communist and would not furnish any information if interviewed. WEYL stated he did not know HISS' wife at all.

10/25/50

He thought that PRESSMAN had been a sincere Communist but not nearly so devoted as ALGER HISS.

WEYL stated he had no knowledge when or where LEE PRESSMAN had aided ALGER HISS in securing employment at the Agriculture Department or elsewhere.

Miss Kenyon's Testimony

By FRANK CONNIFF

ALTHOUGH Dorothy Kenyon stoutly denied being affiliated with Communist front groups while appearing last week before a Senate sub-committee, examination of her testimony discloses that even today she closely follows the party line on at least one major facet of Communist propaganda in America.

It may be only a coincidence that Miss Kenyon's attitude toward the Alger Hiss conviction is virtually the same as that of the Daily Worker. This is not to say that Miss Kenyon is a Communist; but it is one more indication that so-called "liberals" of a certain sympathy time and again seem to reflect the ideological viewpoint being hawked by Mr. Stalin's gauleiters in this country.

Miss Kenyon received the kid glove treatment from Democratic members of the committee who, though specifically directed to probe the Red infiltration of the State Department, appear more interested in coddling and protecting persons whose background at least gives rise to serious doubts about their past political judgments.

Miss Kenyon's name has been connected with some 28 fronts branded as subversive agencies, but at no point did either Sen. Tydings or Sen. McMahon question her very closely on these affiliations.

rather strange attitude toward the Hiss conviction. Although a jury of Americans here in New York found him guilty in effect of being a Communist spy, Miss Kenyon called him a "sacrifice to hysteria" and asserted that he could not get a fair trial in a speech at Troy, N. Y., last Jan. 16.

She was questioned about this statement last week before the Senate sub-committee and I reprint the exchange between her and Sen. Hickenlooper.

"Are you correctly quoted," asked the Republican Senator, "as stating that 'Alger Hiss is a perfect example of sacrifice to the hysteria created by the Un-American Activities Committee?'"

"Are you correctly quoted," the Senator continued, "as saying that 'not one shred of evidence was introduced that Hiss did what he is said to have done?'"

"Are you correctly quoted," Sen. Hickenlooper went on, "as saying, in reference to Hiss, 'He will be lucky to get a hung jury at his second trial?'"

The record shows that Sen. Hickenlooper passed the newspaper containing these remarks over to Miss Kenyon. The witness examined the clipping and declared:

"The words are substantially mine. I recall that I said Hiss would be lucky to get a hung jury in the opinion of a number of lawyers.

"I recall that I said it would be impossible for Hiss to get a fair trial in the present temper of the country and that there was not a shred of direct evidence other than that of Whit-taker Chambers or documents produced by Chambers.

"I have no objection to the clipping being entered in the record."

Miss Kenyon's brash endorsement of her own remarks may have been encouraged by the friendliness of the Democratic members of the committee. Her lack of faith in the honesty and integrity of her fellow Americans—as evidenced by her statement that poor, dear Alger could not get a fair trial from them—brought no questioning from Sen. McMahon or Sen. Tydings.

Miss Kenyon was thus allowed to propagandize a vicious attack on the American judiciary and jury system without a single objection from the Democratic members.

Sen. McMahon's indifferent reaction to Miss Kenyon's espousal of Alger Hiss' cause amazed me. I come from Connecticut myself and I find it hard to believe that the voters who sent him to Washington expect Sen. McMahon to be overly solicitous about any apologist for Alger Hiss. I'll have to ask some of my old friends and schoolmates about this next time I go home.

WINCHELL:

Memo from Belmont to Ladd

COMMENTS:

"The New York Times" and "The Washington Post," on January 5, 1953, reported that Senator McCarran had stated that Alger Hiss, as head of the Office of Special Political Affairs, "had initial control over selection of employees to the U.S. delegation to the United Nations." McCarran's statement was based on then Secretary of State James Byrnes' letter to Senator Mundt (Rep., South Dakota) dated April 1, 1946.

He particularly mentioned the activities of WHITE, PASVOLSKY, HISS, CURRIE, and FRANK COE in this connection. He advised that in addition to his theories, and supplementing them, his students have been doing research work on records and documents and the results support his theories. Acheson, With Berle's Help, Clears Hiss Hurdle in Senate

By OLIVER PILAT
Post Home News Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 13—Dean Acheson, with the surprise assistance of Adolph A. Berle Jr. today demolished what appeared to be the main senate objections to his appointment as Secretary of State.

Appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Acheson, in the clipped accents of Groton, Yale and the Harvard Law School, said:

Washington Bureau
Special to The Post

Alger Hiss "was not my assistant, never was my assistant, and except for a short period when I was acting secretary, never reported to me."

2. He "never had" the controversy with Berle over "pro-Soviet policies" which Berle, former Assistant Secretary of State, had described as having occurred in 1944 and which Berle had said "ended my diplomatic career."

Approved Suspended Loan

3. He approved a loan to Poland at a time when relations between that country and the U.S. were good, but suspended it when Poland failed to fulfill the terms to his satisfaction.

4. He wasn't connected with his former law firm at a time when it represented Poland, for a fee which, he said, was $50,175, not $1,000,000, as had been reported. He got none of the fee himself.

5. He will leave "no step untaken" to keep subversive influences out of the State Dept. if he becomes Secretary, and will retain John Peurifoy, Assistant Secretary, who is "cleaning up all of the remnants of Communist cells still there."

6. He will, if confirmed, do his best to carry out the example of retiring Secretary Marshall. Asked specifically by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), ranking Republican on the committee, about his present views on Russia, Acheson said "the determination of foreign policy is a matter for the President. The President has stated in a most categorical manner that he does not change."

to Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) urging Acheson's quick confirmation so that there would be no further differences were dismissed by Berle as honest disagreements between two patriotic Americans.

Acheson, in his testimony, had taken sharp issue with Berle's testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee, which Berle had told:

"In the fall of 1944 there was a difference of opinion (on Soviet policy) in the State Dept. . . . I was pressing for a cleaner showdown then when our position was strongest. The opposite group . . . was . . . Mr. Acheson's group, of course, with Mr. Hiss as his principal assistant in the matter. I got trimmed in that fight. And that ended my diplomatic career."

Led Astray by Memory
"Mr. Berle's memory led him badly astray," Acheson said.

He noted that Alger Hiss had been assigned to the Dumbarton Oaks Conference in May, 1944, and his brother Donald had taken a leave of absence, so that neither Hiss was associated with him at that time.

"I do not wish to detract from Alger Hiss in any way," he said, in explaining that Alger had never been close to him. "We have been friends and we remain friends." Donald, he said, had been his State Dept. assistant and had served with "complete fidelity."

"He is now my law partner," he said, emphasizing his confidence in Donald Hiss.

Former Secretary of State Stettinius, testifying for Acheson, said:

"He is uniquely qualified for this post from the standpoint of natural endowment, age, temperament and capacity and his intimacy and familiarity with foreign affairs."

After the hearing, Connally predicted that the committee would vote for confirmation tomorrow.

It was LEVINE'S recollection that CHAMBERS told BERLE with respect to Communist infiltration of the Federal Government that the Government officials were divided into two groups. One was an espionage group and the other a labor, political and propaganda unit. In the first group CHAMBERS placed ALGER HISS and his brother LAWRENCE DUGGAN, NOEL FIELD, PHILIP and VINCENT RENO and two other individuals named WALTER and LOVELL.

The name WILLIAM ROSEN appears on the transfer of a title of a 1929 Ford Roadster from ALGER HISS to the Cherner Motor Company on July 23, 1936 and on the same day from the Cherner Motor Company to WILLIAM ROSEN.

SUBJECT'S ALLEGED CONNECTION WITH ALGER HISS

A review of the transcript of the hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities reflects considerable information by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS concerning his knowledge of ALGER HISS. To corroborate his assertion that ALGER HISS furnished him (CHAMBERS) with information, CHAMBERS mentioned among other things that ALGER HISS owned a 1929 Ford Roadster, and sometime in 1936 against the advice of both CHAMBERS and J. PETERS, HISS disposed of this car to

100-331270-21

someone in the open Communist Party. CHAMBERS even went into minute detail regarding this car, recalling the windshield wiper which had to be operated manually. HISS was questioned extensively before the House Committee on Un-American Activities regarding the disposition of this car. He stated that the car in question was given to CHAMBERS whom he knew only as GEORGE CROSLY, and it was thrown in with a lease of HISS' apartment to CHAMBERS. HISS was shown photostatic copies of a transfer of title to the car in question and stated that he has no recollection of any evidence concerning this car or the title in question. A photographic copy of the Certificate of Title has been obtained which shows that the 1929 Ford Roadster was sold on July 23, 1936 to the Cherner Motor Company, and on the same day sold to one WILLIAM ROSEN of 5405 13th Street, N.W.

In 1936 one BENJAMIN BIALEK resided at 5405 13th Street, N.W. BENJAMIN BIALEK is the co-proprietor of the Petworth Pharmacy and is co-proprietor of the Security Liquor Store at 5313 Georgia Avenue, N.W. BIALEK was too sick to be questioned by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. WILLIAM ROSEN was questioned under oath but refused to answer any pertinent question regarding this car. The substance of his testimony has previously been reported in a report dated September 29, 1948.

The known handwriting specimens of WILLIAM ROSEN were obtained and forwarded to the Bureau. The known handwriting specimens consisting of signatures of BENJAMIN BIALEK were obtained and forwarded to the Bureau. A photographic copy of the Certificate of Title bearing the name WILLIAM ROSEN was also obtained and forwarded to the Bureau. A photographic copy of the Certificate of Title was obtained bearing the purported signature of ALGER HISS. This was further forwarded to the Bureau.

By letter dated February 10, 1949, the FBI Laboratory reported that the known handwriting of WILLIAM ROSEN had been compared with the questioned writing namely the Certificate of Title but a definite conclusion could not be reached inasmuch as there are certain letters in the known writing of ROSEN that vary in style from similar letters appearing in the questioned writing. There were certain handwriting characteristics noted in the known handwriting of ROSEN that do not appear in the

WILLIAM ROSEN signature on the questioned document. The Laboratory further reported that the known handwriting of BENJAMIN BIALEK is not sufficiently comparable with the questioned writing for a definite conclusion to be reached. Concerning the photographic copy of the Certificate of Title, the FBI Laboratory advised that it desired the original Certificate before it could give its opinion as to whether the signature of ALGER HISS was genuine. The Title concerned the transfer of a 1929 Ford Roadster, Motor Number A2188811 which had previously been registered in the name of ALGER HISS, 3411 O Street, N.W. This car was assigned to the Cherner Motor Company on July 23, 1936, and on that day purchased from the Cherner Motor Company by WILLIAM ROSEN, 5405 13th Street, N.W.

On February 9, 1941 Mr. HENRY J. GERTLER, an official of the Cherner Motor Company, was interviewed and admitted that his signature appeared on the Assignment of Title in question. Mr. GERTLER stated he had no present recollection of this transaction, and that there are presently no records of the Cherner Motor Company in which this transaction was reflected. Mr. GERTLER stated that several months ago at the request of the House Committee on Un-American Activities he went to the officials of the Cherner Motor Company and conducted a two day exhaustive search for old records, and the only records found were some sales slips immediately preceding and immediately following July 23, 1936. He did not know whether these records were all inclusive as the records in question were "rat infested" and were in a very deteriorating state. These sales slips are presently in the possession of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

100-331270-21

On page 1113 of the transcript of the hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Mr. LOUIS RIESELL, the investigator, testified that no sales invoice was found for this particular transaction and that there were no sales invoices missing, indicating that no sales invoice for the sale of this car to Mr. ROSEN was made out by the Cherner Motor Company. Regarding this testimony, Mr. GERTLER advised that he had no explanation for it except there is a possibility that the sale in question from HISS to the Cherner Motor Company might have involved the sale of a car for its used parts in which case no sales invoice slip would be involved, but instead a parts invoice slip would be made out.

Mr. SAMUEL MENSCH, Vice President of the Cherner Motor Company, advised that it was his signature on the Assignment of Title which he signed as an official of the Cherner Motor Company. Mr. MENSCH stated that he has no recollection of the transaction, and that there is presently no existing record of the transaction at the Cherner Motor Company.

The transcript of the record before the House Committee on Un-American Activities further shows that Mr. W. MARVIN SMITH who notarized the document in question was questioned by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and testified that he notarized a signature of Mr. HISS and that Mr. HISS actually appeared before him to have his signature notarized.

Will determine if he is identical with the WILLIAM ROSE who purchased ALBERT HESS' car from the Cherner Motor Company on July 25, 1936.

100-331270-21

11/4/50

When recently interviewed, Mr. WEYL observed to the Interviewing Agents that he was considerably concerned about an item appearing in the Washington "Post" on October 23, 1950. The following comment appeared in WALTER WINCHELL's column: "The FBI has a new witness to confront ALGER HISS."

Red Spy Stole Atomic Secrets While FBI Action Was Blocked

Adams' Arrest, Justice Unit Was Told, Might 'Upset Unity' With Soviet Russia

(Fifth of a series on the infiltration of Communists in government positions in Washington.)

By WILLARD EDWARDS
 (Copyright 1950, by Chicago Tribune)

Official government files contain the near-incredible story of Arthur Alexandrovich Adams, a Russian spy who stole atomic secrets from 1942 to 1945 while under surveillance by FBI agents.

Repeatedly, the agents pleaded that they had assembled indisputable proof of espionage against this alien. They argued that the time had come to arrest and prosecute him. An appeal was even made to the White House, which passed the buck to the State department.

Such an arrest, the frustrated Federal Bureau of Investigation was then informed, might "upset unity" with Soviet Russia, a war ally. Adams, fully aware that FBI men had long trailed him and probably fearful that his immunity could not last forever, finally disappeared in New York City in late 1945. At last report he was enjoying his reward in Moscow.

Pro-Russian Factions

There were two secretaries of state during the period covered by this incident. They were Edward R. Stettinius and James F. Byrnes. Under them served Dean Acheson, then undersecretary, and Alger Hiss, director of political affairs, named in official testimony as leaders of the "pro-Russian faction" in the State department.

Hiss has since been convicted by a jury on charges of perjury to conceal espionage and sentenced to serve five years in prison. Acheson, now State secretary, has publicly avowed his loyalty to Hiss, regardless of the outcome of a higher court appeal.

The FBI reported to President Truman in 1945 that the key witness in the Canadian spy trial had given information that an assistant to Stettinius was a Soviet agent. Hiss was an assistant to Stettinius and, as such, attended the Yalta conference in February 1945, where he stood behind the illing President Roosevelt at conferences with Stalin.

Charter Member of Reds

Adams, the Soviet spy, was born in Russia about 65 years ago. In 1905 he was arrested as a revolutionary and imprisoned for a period, being partially crippled as a result. He was virtually former member of the Communist party, which it seized the Russian government. He made a number of official visits to the United States in the '20s and early '30s, appearing as a technical engineering adviser to the Russian government and as a member of an airplane-purchasing commission.

In 1938, Adams entered the United States for underground work. He secured admission through a fraudulent Canadian birth certificate. He was assisted in entry, according to official records, by the statements of Samuel J. Novick, president of the Electronics Corporation of America, who said he had employed Adams in Canada for 10 years and vouched for him. Novick, Russian-born, was later a war contractor. Canadian authorities tipped off the FBI in 1942 that Adams had been assigned to spy upon the atom bomb project. For the next three years, he was under almost constant surveillance. His New York City hotel room was searched in 1944 and highly secret information concerning the atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., was seized. But Washington forbade his arrest.

Contacted A-Scientist

In April, 1944, Adams was trailed to Chicago where he contacted Dr. Clarence F. Hiskey, an atomic scientist working on the secret project at the University of Chicago. Hiskey had been called up for military service because he was under suspicion as a subversive agent and the authorities wished to remove him from the project.

Adams' visit, according to the official records, was to secure a replacement for Hiskey as a Soviet informant. On the following day, he went to Cleveland where, in a hotel, he interviewed John Hitchcock Chapin, a chemical engineer, also employed at the Chicago project. Chapin later admitted that Hiskey told him that Adams was a Soviet agent and he agreed to take Hiskey's place. Chapin said he later got "cold feet" and gave Adams no information.

Adams had been aware, since his hotel room was searched, that he was under surveillance. His continuance of espionage activities, investigators declared, could be attributed only to an assurance from Washington that he would not be hampered.

Adams Attempts to Flee

On Oct. 25, 1944, Adams observed leaving the home of a New York lawyer with a fat brief case. He entered an automobile registered in the name of Pavel Mikhailov, Soviet vice counsel. He delivered the brief case to the Soviet consulate.

Adams made two attempts in 1945 to flee the country. The first was unsuccessful. Leaving the apartment of Victoria Stone, proprietor of a New York jewelry store, he hopped into a passing cab and temporarily shook off the FBI agents.

The trail was picked up in Chicago and Adams was followed to Portland, Ore., where a Soviet ship was scheduled to leave. Adams walked up to the gangplank but suddenly changed his mind, turned around and went back to New York, unmolested. There, he eventually eluded his pursuers and was never seen thereafter.

Chief of Underground

Adams was not the only Soviet agent to enjoy immunity. J. Peters, born Goldberger, a Russian-born agent with a dozen aliases, entered the United States in 1930 and became the chief of the underground in Washington in the period when Whittaker Chambers was collecting secret State department documents from Alger Hiss.

Chambers testified at the Hiss trial that he was introduced to Hiss by Peters in 1934. When Hiss transferred from the Agriculture department to the Justice department and again to the State department, he first sought Peters' approval, Chambers said.

Louis F. Budenz, former high Communist official, also testified to Peters' importance in the Soviet apparatus. When he joined the Communist party in 1935, Budenz testified, he found Peters as one of the "mysterious figures" at New York City headquarters which was giving the orders. He said Peters was closely associated with Gerhart Eisler, identified as the No. 1 spy in the United States.

Peters Allowed to Leave

The FBI was early aware of Peters as a Communist agent. In 1933, he was reported to the Justice department as an illegal resident in the United States whose operations constituted a security risk. Peters was allowed to go back to his native country, Hungary. He was not deported but allowed to leave voluntarily.

The immunity enjoyed by Peters for such a long period, investigators note, points to powerful influence in Washington. As head of an apparatus which included at least 30 government officials under its discipline, Peters undoubtedly had information concerning Communists in the government which he held as a club to insure his freedom.

Of 12 Soviet agents who operated in the United States under the New Deal regime, only one was caught in the clutches of the law. He was Gerhart Eisler, No. 1 agent from 1941 to 1947, who was then exposed by the House committee on un-American activities. Released on bond pending appeal, Eisler finally fled the country in May, 1949, and is now a people's commissar in the Soviet zone in Germany.

ALLEGATIONS OF JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS

On December 31, 1948, in the course of an interview of JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS by Mr. RAY WHEARTY, of the Department of Justice, and Special Agent MAURICE A. TAYLOR, in the office of Mr. WHEARTY, CHAMBERS was questioned briefly about HAROLD GLASSER. He stated that he met GLASSER on two or three occasions and that these meetings had been arranged by J. PETERS, who informed him that GLASSER was a Party member and could be trusted. The purpose of these meetings was to make inquiry of GLASSER concerning HARRY DEXTER WHITE who as indicated elsewhere, was considered very valuable however irascible and difficult to handle. CHAMBERS' recollection was that GLASSER affirmed their knowledge of WHITE indicating that WHITE had never been a Communist Party member but had complete sympathy for the Communist Party and its objective and cooperated fully. CHAMBERS stated that GLASSER had not been part of his apparatus and he had no knowledge of his underground activities. He also stated that he was not aware that GLASSER was furnishing ALGER HISS with any information but understood GLASSER was a member of an underground cell. This is somewhat at variance with information furnished by ELIZABETH T. BENTLEY to the effect that GLASSER had been stolen from the PERLO group by ALGER HISS.

In this connection, CHAMBERS has described himself as a former member of the Communist Party who was engaged in procuring confidential information to be furnished to the Russian Government.

On June 2, 1947, ALGER HISS denied to Special Agents CHARLES CLEVELAND and EDWARD L. GRAMPP, when interviewed at his office 700 Jackson Place, Northwest, that he ever placed GLASSER in touch with a representative of the Russian Government in order that he, GLASSER, might furnish government information to this unauthorized individual. He stated that he met GLASSER in an official capacity when GLASSER was an official of the U. S. Treasury Department.

national Loans and Affairs, which prompted him to have numerous contacts with me at the Treasury Department. As a matter of fact I have never been socially acquainted with either ALGER or DONALD HISS. I do recall meeting ALGER HISS on a streetcar in 1945, and on another occasion I met him and his wife and child while walking along the Canal. I last saw him at the Wardman Park Hotel in September, 1946.

"I would never have been in a position to furnish ALGER HISS or DONALD HISS any official information with regard to Treasury Department international loans inasmuch as all of the international policy actually emanated from the Department of State itself. As a matter of fact, DONALD HISS through his official capacity would be in a position to obtain first hand knowledge of any information that I might develop through my official capacity in the Treasury Department regarding international loans.

ALGER HISS was never involved in any of the above confidential Treasury Department work, and I was never engaged in any discussion with him concerning this work.

Acheson, With Berle's Help, Clears Hiss Hurdle in Senate

By OLIVER PILAT

Post Home News Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 13—Dean Acheson, with the surprise assistance of Adolph A. Berle Jr. today demolished what appeared to be the main senate objections to his appointment as Secretary of State.

Appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Acheson, in the clipped accents of Groton, Yale and the Harvard Law School, said:

1. Alger Hiss "was not my assistant, never was my assistant, and except for a short period when I was acting secretary, never reported to me."

2. He "never had" the controversy with Berle over "pro-Soviet policies" which Berle, former Assistant Secretary of State, had described as having occurred in 1944 and which Berle had said "ended my diplomatic career."

Approved Suspended Loan

3. He approved a loan to Poland at a time when relations between that country and the U.S. were good, but suspended it when Poland failed to fulfill the terms to his satisfaction.

4. He wasn't connected with his former law firm at a time when it represented Poland, for a fee which, he said, was $50,175, not $1,000,000, as had been reported. He got none of the fee himself.

5. He will leave "no step untaken" to keep subversive influences out of the State Dept. If he becomes Secretary, and will retain John Peurifoy, Assistant Secretary, who is "cleaning up all of the remnants of Communist cells still there."

6. He will, if confirmed, do his best to carry out the example of retiring Secretary Marshall. Asked specifically by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), ranking Republican on the committee, about his present views on Russia, Acheson said "the determination of foreign policy is a matter for the President. The President has stated in a most categorical manner that he does not change."

Berle Back: "The ur..."

Washington Bureau Special to The Post

to Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) urging Acheson's quick confirmation so that there would be no further differences were dismissed by Berle as honest disagreements between two patriotic Americans.

Acheson, in his testimony, had taken sharp issue with Berle's testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee, which Berle had told:

"In the fall of 1944 there was a difference of opinion (on Soviet policy) in the State Dept. I was pressing for a cleaner showdown then when our position was strongest. The opposite group... was... Mr. Acheson's group, of course, with Mr. Hiss as his principal assistant in the matter. I got trimmed in that fight. And that ended my diplomatic career."

Led Astray by Memory

"Mr. Berle's memory led him badly astray," Acheson said.

He noted that Alger Hiss had been assigned to the Dumbarton Oaks Conference in May, 1944, and his brother Donald had taken a leave of absence, so that neither Hiss was associated with him at that time.

"I do not wish to detract from Alger Hiss in any way," he said, in explaining that Alger had never been close to him. "We have been friends and we remain friends." Donald, he said, had been his State Dept. assistant and had served with "complete fidelity."

"He is now my law partner," he said, emphasizing his confidence in Donald Hiss.

Former Secretary of State Stettinius, testifying for Acheson, said:

"He is uniquely qualified for this post from the standpoint of natural endowment, age, temperament and capacity and his intimacy and familiarity with foreign affairs."

After the hearing, Connally predicted that the committee would vote for confirmation tomorrow.

It was LEVINE'S recollection that CHAMBERS told BERIE with respect to Communist infiltration of the Federal Government that the Government officials were divided into two groups. One was an espionage group and the other a labor, political and propaganda unit. In the first group CHAMBERS placed ALGER HISS and his brother LAWRENCE DUGGAN, NOEL WFIELD, PHILIP and VINCENT RENO and two other individuals named WALTER and LOVELL.

The name WILLIAM ROSEN appears on the transfer of a title of a 1929 Ford Roadster from ALGER HISS to the Cherner Motor Company on July 23, 1936 and on the same day from the Cherner Motor Company to WILLIAM ROSEN.

SUBJECT'S ALLEGED CONNECTION WITH ALGER HISS

A review of the transcript of the hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities reflects considerable information by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS concerning his knowledge of ALGER HISS. To corroborate his assertion that ALGER HISS furnished him (CHAMBERS) with information, CHAMBERS mentioned among other things that ALGER HISS owned a 1929 Ford Roadster, and sometime in 1936 against the advice of both CHAMBERS and J. PETERS, HISS disposed of this car to someone in the open Communist Party. CHAMBERS even went into minute detail regarding this car, recalling the windshield wiper which had to be operated manually. HISS was questioned extensively before the House Committee on Un-American Activities regarding the disposition of this car. He stated that the car in question was given to CHAMBERS whom he knew only as GEORGE CROSLY, and it was thrown in with a lease of HISS' apartment to CHAMBERS. HISS was shown photostatic copies of a transfer of title to the car in question and stated that he has no recollection of any evidence concerning this car or the title in question. A photographic copy of the Certificate of Title has been obtained which shows that the 1929 Ford Roadster was sold on July 23, 1936 to the Cherner Motor Company, and on the same day sold to one WILLIAM ROSEN of 5405 13th Street, N.W.

In 1936 one BENJAMIN BIALEK resided at 5405 13th Street, N.W. BENJAMIN BIALEK is the co-proprietor of the Petworth Pharmacy and is co-proprietor of the Security Liquor Store at 3313 Georgia Avenue, N.W. BIALEK was too sick to be questioned by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. WILLIAM ROSEN was questioned under oath but refused to answer any pertinent question regarding this car. The substance of his testimony has previously been reported in a report dated September 29, 1948.

The known handwriting specimens of WILLIAM ROSEN were obtained and forwarded to the Bureau. The known handwriting specimens consisting of signatures of BENJAMIN BIALEK were obtained and forwarded to the Bureau. A photographic copy of the Certificate of Title bearing the name WILLIAM ROSEN was also obtained and forwarded to the Bureau. A photographic copy of the Certificate of Title was obtained bearing the purported signature of ALGER HISS. This was further forwarded to the Bureau.

By letter dated February 10, 1949, the FBI Laboratory reported that the known handwriting of WILLIAM ROSEN had been compared with the questioned writing namely the Certificate of Title but a definite conclusion could not be reached inasmuch as there are certain letters in the known writing of ROSEN that vary in style from similar letters appearing in the questioned writing. There were certain handwriting characteristics noted in the known handwriting of ROSEN that do not appear in the

WILLIAM ROSEN signature on the questioned document. The Laboratory further reported that the known handwriting of BENJAMIN BIALEK is not sufficiently comparable with the questioned writing for a definite conclusion to be reached. Concerning the photographic copy of the Certificate of Title, the FBI Laboratory advised that it desired the original Certificate before it could give its opinion as to whether the signature of ALGER HISS was genuine. The Title concerned the transfer of a 1929 Ford Roadster, Motor Number A2188811 which had previously been registered in the name of ALGER HISS, 3411 O Street, N.W. This car was assigned to the Cherner Motor Company on July 23, 1936, and on that day purchased from the Cherner Motor Company by WILLIAM ROSEN, 5405 13th Street, N.W.

On February 9, 1941 Mr. HENRY J. GERTLER, an official of the Cherner Motor Company, was interviewed and admitted that his signature appeared on the Assignment of Title in question. Mr. GERTLER stated he had no present recollection of this transaction, and that there are presently no records of the Cherner Motor Company in which this transaction was reflected. Mr. GERTLER stated that several months ago at the request of the House Committee on Un-American Activities he went to the officials of the Cherner Motor Company and conducted a two day exhaustive search for old records, and the only records found were some sales slips immediately preceding and immediately following July 23, 1936. He did not know whether these records were all inclusive as the records in question were "rat infested" and were in a very deteriorating state. These sales slips are presently in the possession of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

100-331270-21

On page 1113 of the transcript of the hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Mr. LOUIS RUSSELL, the investigator, testified that no sales invoice was found for this particular transaction and that there were no sales invoices missing, indicating that no sales invoice for the sale of this car to Mr. ROSEN was made out by the Cherner Motor Company. Regarding this testimony, Mr. GERTLER advised that he had no explanation for it except there is a possibility that the sale in question from HISS to the Cherner Motor Company might have involved the sale of a car for its used parts in which case no sales invoice slip would be involved, but instead a parts invoice slip would be made out.

3/3/49

[REDACTED]

Mr. SAMUEL MENSCH, Vice President of the Cherner Motor Company, advised that it was his signature on the Assignment of Title which he signed as an official of the Cherner Motor Company. Mr. MENSCH stated that he has no recollection of the transaction, and that there is presently no existing record of the transaction at the Cherner Motor Company.

The transcript of the record before the House Committee on Un-American Activities further shows that Mr. W. MARVIN SMITH who notarized the document in question was questioned by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and testified that he notarized a signature of Mr. HISS and that Mr. HISS actually appeared before him to have his signature notarized.

When recently interviewed, Mr. WEYL observed to the Interviewing Agents that he was considerably concerned about an item appearing in the Washington "Post" on October 23, 1950. The following comment appeared in WALTER WINCHELL's column: "The FBI has a new witness to confront ALGER HISS."

Red Spy Stole Atomic Secrets While FBI Action Was Blocked

Adams' Arrest, Justice Unit Was Told, Might 'Upset Unity' With Soviet Russia

(Fifth of a series on the infiltration of Communists in government positions in Washington.)

By WILLARD EDWARDS
 (Copyright 1944, by Chicago Tribune)

Official government files contain the near-incredible story of Arthur Alexandrovich Adams, a Russian spy who stole atomic secrets from 1942 to 1945 while under surveillance by FBI agents.

Repeatedly, the agents pleaded that they had assembled indisputable proof of espionage against this alien. They argued that the time had come to arrest and prosecute him. An appeal was even made to the White House, which passed the buck to the State department.

Such an arrest, the frustrated Federal Bureau of Investigation has then informed, might "upset unity" with Soviet Russia, a war ally. Adams, fully aware that FBI men had long trailed him and probably fearful that his immunity could not last forever, finally disappeared in New York City in late 1945. At last report he was enjoying his reward in Moscow.

Pro-Russian Factions

There were two secretaries of state during the period covered by this incident. They were Edward R. Stettinius and James F. Byrnes. Under them served Dean Acheson, then undersecretary, and Alger Hiss, director of political affairs, named in official testimony as leaders of the "pro-Russian faction" in the State department.

Hiss has since been convicted by a jury on charges of perjury to conceal espionage and sentenced to serve five years in prison. Acheson, now State secretary, has publicly avowed his loyalty to Hiss, regardless of the outcome of a higher court appeal.

The FBI reported to President Truman in 1945 that the key witness in the Canadian spy trial had given information that an assistant to Stettinius was a Soviet agent. Hiss was an assistant to Stettinius and, as such, attended the Yalta conference in February 1945, where he stood behind the smiling President Roosevelt at conferences with Stalin.

Former Member of Reds

Adams, the Soviet spy, was born in Russia about 85 years ago. In 1905 he was arrested as a revolutionary and imprisoned for a period, being partially crippled as a result. He was virtually a former member of the Communist party when it seized the Russian government. He made a number of official visits to the United States in the '20s and early '30s, appearing as a technical engineering adviser to the Russian government and as a member of an airplane-purchasing commission.

In 1938, Adams entered the United States for underground work. He secured admission through a fraudulent Canadian birth certificate. He was assisted in entry, according to official records, by the statements of Samuel J. Novick, president of the Electronics Corporation of America, who said he had employed Adams in Canada for 10 years and vouched for him. Novick, Russian-born, was later a war contractor. Canadian authorities tipped off the FBI in 1942 that Adams had been assigned to spy upon the atom bomb project. For the next three years, he was under almost constant surveillance. His New York City hotel room was searched in 1944 and highly secret information concerning the atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., was seized. But Washington forbade his arrest.

Such an arrest, the frustrated Federal Bureau of Investigation has then informed, might "upset unity" with Soviet Russia, a war ally. Adams, fully aware that FBI men had long trailed him and probably fearful that his immunity could not last forever, finally disappeared in New York City in late 1945. At last report he was enjoying his reward in Moscow.

Contacted A-Scientist

In April, 1944, Adams was trailed to Chicago where he contacted Dr. Clarence F. Hiskey, an atomic scientist working on the secret project at the University of Chicago. Hiskey had been called up for military service because he was under suspicion as a subversive agent and the authorities wished to remove him from the project.

Adams' visit, according to the official records, was to secure a replacement for Hiskey as a Soviet informant. On the following day, he went to Cleveland where, in a hotel, he interviewed John Hitchcock Chapin, a chemical engineer, also employed at the Chicago project. Chapin later admitted that Hiskey told him that Adams was a Soviet agent and he agreed to take Hiskey's place. Chapin said he later got "cold feet" and gave Adams no information.

Adams had been aware, since his hotel room was searched, that he was under surveillance. His continuance of espionage activities, investigators declared, could be attributed only to an assurance from Washington that he would not be hampered.

Adams Attempts to Flee

On Oct. 25, 1944, Adams was observed leaving the home of a New York lawyer with a fat brief case. He entered an automobile registered in the name of Pavel Mikhailov, Soviet vice counsel. He delivered the brief case to the Soviet consulate.

Adams made two attempts in 1945 to flee the country. The first was unsuccessful. Leaving the apartment of Victoria Stone, proprietor of a New York jewelry store, he hopped into a passing cab and temporarily shook off the FBI agents.

The trail was picked up in Chicago and Adams was followed to Portland, Ore., where a Soviet ship was scheduled to leave. Adams walked up to the gangplank but suddenly changed his mind, turned around and went back to New York, unmolested. There, he eventually eluded his pursuers and was never seen thereafter.

Chief of Underground

Adams was not the only Soviet agent to enjoy immunity. J. Peters, born Goldberger, a Russian-born agent with a dozen aliases, entered the United States in 1930 and became the chief of the underground in Washington in the period when Whittaker Chambers was collecting secret State department documents from Alger Hiss.

Chambers testified at the Hiss trial that he was introduced to Hiss by Peters in 1934. When Hiss transferred from the Agriculture department to the Justice department and again to the State department, he first sought Peters' approval, Chambers said.

Louis F. Budenz, former high Communist official, also testified to Peters' importance in the Soviet apparatus. When he joined the Communist party in 1935, Budenz testified, he found Peters as one of the "mysterious figures" at New York City headquarters which was giving the orders. He said Peters was closely associated with Gerhart Eisler, identified as the No. 1 spy in the United States.

Peters Allowed to Leave

The FBI was early aware of Peters as a Communist agent. In 1933, he was reported to the Justice department as an illegal resident in the United States whose operations constituted a security risk. Peters was allowed to go back to his native country, Hungary. He was not deported but allowed to leave voluntarily.

The immunity enjoyed by Peters for such a long period, investigators note, points to powerful influence in Washington. As head of an apparatus which included at least 30 government officials under its discipline, Peters undoubtedly had information concerning Communists in the government which he held as a club to insure his freedom.

Of 12 Soviet agents who operated in the United States under the New Deal regime, only one was caught in the clutches of the law. He was Gerhart Eisler, No. 1 agent from 1941 to 1947, who was then exposed by the House committee on un-American activities. Released on bond pending appeal, Eisler finally fled the country in May, 1949, and is now a people's commissar in the Soviet zone in Germany.

This office was headed by JEROME FRANK and included such persons as LEE PRESSMAN, JOHN ABT, ALGER HISS, and others associated with communist activities. In my opinion, this office was at least 60% pro-communist.

This office, in my opinion, was substantially communist in make-up, especially in the legislative liason section thereof.

BENTLEY determined from KRAMER that the person who had originally taken GLASSER away from the Perlo group was an individual named HISS in the United States State Department, which individual is believed to be ALGER HISS.

ALLEGATIONS OF JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS

On December 31, 1948, in the course of an interview of JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS by Mr. RAY WHEARTY, of the Department of Justice, and Special Agent MAURICE A. TAYLOR, in the office of Mr. WHEARTY, CHAMBERS was questioned briefly about HAROLD GLASSER. He stated that he met GLASSER on two or three occasions and that these meetings had been arranged by J. PETERS, who informed him that GLASSER was a Party member and could be trusted. The purpose of these meetings was to make inquiry of GLASSER concerning HARRY DEXTER WHITE who as indicated elsewhere, was considered very valuable however irascible and difficult to handle. CHAMBERS' recollection was that GLASSER affirmed their knowledge of WHITE indicating that WHITE had never been a Communist Party member but had complete sympathy for the Communist Party and its objective and cooperated fully. CHAMBERS stated that GLASSER had not been part of his apparatus and he had no knowledge of his underground activities. He also stated that he was not aware that GLASSER was furnishing ALGER HISS with any information but understood GLASSER was a member of an underground cell. This is somewhat at variance with information furnished by ELIZABETH T. BENTLEY to the effect that GLASSER had been stolen from the FERLO group by ALGER HISS.

In this connection, CHAMBERS has described himself as a former member of the Communist Party who was engaged in procuring confidential information to be furnished to the Russian Government.

On June 2, 1947, ALGER HISS denied to Special Agents CHARLES CLEVELAND and EDWARD L. GRAPP, when interviewed at his office 700 Jackson Place, Northwest, that he ever placed GLASSER in touch with a representative of the Russian Government in order that he, GLASSER, might furnish government information to this unauthorized individual. He stated that he met GLASSER in an official capacity when GLASSER was an official of the U. S. Treasury Department.

I first met ALGER HISS in an interdepartmental committee meeting on the Philippine Islands Independence Act of 1933. I do not know ALGER HISS at all socially and had very little contact with him at any time. I am, however, much better acquainted with his brother DONALD HISS, who for sometime at the State Department handled International Loans and Affairs, which prompted him to have numerous contacts with me at the Treasury Department. As a matter of fact I have never been socially acquainted with either ALGER or DONALD HISS. I do recall meeting ALGER HISS on a streetcar in 1945, and on another occasion I met him and his wife and child while walking along the Canal. I last saw him at the Wardman Park Hotel in September, 1946.

"I would never have been in a position to furnish ALGER HISS or DONALD HISS any official information with regard to Treasury Department international loans inasmuch as all of the international policy actually emanated from the Department of State itself. As a matter of fact, DONALD HISS through his official capacity would be in a position to obtain first hand knowledge of any information that I might develop through my official capacity in the Treasury Department regarding international loans.

ALGER HISS was never involved in any of the above confidential Treasury Department work, and I was never engaged in any discussion with him concerning this work.

5/18/49

Concerning ALGER HISS, JAY DAVID WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, previously described, has described ALGER HISS as a former member of the Communist Party and in the late 1930s he furnished restricted and classified information to sources whom he knew to be Soviet principals and was aware that such information would eventually be furnished to the Soviet Government.

ELIZABETH T. BENTLEY also knew ALGER HISS to have been involved in a Soviet conspiracy in the late 1930s and early 1940s.

101-3599-23

10/27/51

BENTLEY has identified the following as members of the VICTOR PERLO Group and included in addition to GLASSER the following:

ALGER HISS, former State Department official recently convicted of perjury in New York City.

During the course of another investigation, Mr. EDWARD R. STETTINIUS, JR., former Secretary of State, was interviewed on January 14, 1949 and advised there were several individuals who had worked closely with ALGER HISS and would probably know the machinations behind HISS' movements and promotions. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was one of these individuals.

ALGER HISS, former employee of the State Department, was indicted December 15, 1948, by a Special Grand Jury, United States District Court, Southern District of New York, on two counts of perjury arising out of his testimony that he had not turned over State Department documents to WHITTAKER CHAMBERS (self-confessed Communist Party and espionage agent) and had had no contact with CHAMBERS subsequent to January 1, 1937. He was convicted on both counts on January 21, 1950 and was sentenced to five years imprisonment on January 25, 1950.

She offered the information that she may have met these individuals, but could not positively state so. Mrs. McAVOY advised that during the period of 1940 to 1941 when she was keeping company with COLLINS, she had no knowledge whatsoever that he had ever collected dues for Communist Party members or that he was engaged in any espionage activities with ALGER HISS or other individuals in Washington, D.
